WALL STREET LOANS DROP BILLION IN MONTH; STOCK TRADE DULL

Transactions Dwindle to Lowest Level Since July, 1928, Total Sales Exceeding 1,000,000 Shares by a Moderate Margin.

HIGHER RANGE TO STOCK PRICES

Closing Out of Short Accounts Because of Curtailed Trading Week Has Influence on Price Trends—Call Money Easier.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 2.—Share prices worked higher under the influence of the closing out of short commitments in preparation for the triple holiday today, as trading again dwindled to the lowest level since July of 1928.

Few traders were willing to take any new positions in the market before the week-end closing. In view of the general business uncertainty, and trading was barely active enough to keep the ticker tape moving. Floor traders dealers for their personal accounts appeared to be providing most of the day's trading. Total sales exceeded 1,000,000 shares by a moderate margin.

The stock exchange reported that collateral loans to members at the close of business June 20 totaled $1,177,111,233, a decrease of $1,620,129,422 from a total of $4,747,331,912 on May 29.

Steel Trade Comment.
The advance was helped by a moderately optimistic tone in the weekly steel trade review, although the optimism appeared to be predicated largely on the theory that the steel business can't get much worse, in view of the minimum requirements of consumers.

A few custom smelters again cut copper prices to 11 1/2 cents but all producers and several smelters held at 12 cents. The low price was regarded as merely an effort to move surplus stock.

Bradstreet's provided some interesting statistics on the low level of prices and general business activity during June. Bank clearings were calculated at the low level for the month since 1927.

On eliminating New York City, the figures were distorted by activity in the stock market, the lowest since 1924. Bradstreet's commodity price index as of July 1 was the lowest for the first of any month since November, 1915.

It was, however, only a shade under the low level reached on June 1, 1927. The index was 49.4 per cent below the post-war peak reached Feb. 1, 1920, and 21.2 per cent over the pre-war low of Aug. 1, 1914.

Steel Trade Comment.
Iron Age estimated that steel production for the country at large had declined to 60 per cent of capacity and to 50 before the holiday period has passed.

This publication, however, pointed out that resistance to pressure against steel prices is becoming more determined, and there is a growing belief that the iron and steel market is turning bottom.

The sharp curtailment of production is expected to give demand a chance to catch up. It was stated that even in the past, such a shut down had proved the bottom of a recession.

News developments of the whole, however, indicated anything but decisive changes in business activity. The midyear condition statements of New York banks, while showing curtailment in earnings, probably owing to lower interest rates and smaller profits by investment affiliates, showed that Wall Street institutions are in excellent condition to finance a recovery in business when it arrives.

The Treasury surplus of $184,000,000 at the end of the fiscal year was gratifying to Wall Street, but reflected cash payments of $76,000,000 from foreign governments, and income tax payments on last year's record breaking earnings.

Redissout Rates Cut.
Call money held at 2 1/2 per cent all day, having touched 3 yesterday. Loan calling was moderate. The Boston Federal Reserve Bank cut its rediscount rate from 3 1/2 to 3 per cent, and the Philadelphia bank from 4 to 3 1/2.

Stock prices, with other tables and market news, will be found on pages 12C, 13C, 14C and 15C.

SENATOR'S BRIDE

MRS. REED SMOOT.

SENATOR SMOOT WEDS IN MORMON TEMPLE

He and Bride Go to Provo—Later to Honolulu for Honeymoon.

By the Associated Press.
SALT LAKE CITY, July 2.—Senator Reed Smoot of Utah and Mrs. Alice Taylor Sheets were married this morning in the Latter Day Saints temple here. Heber J. Grant, president of that church, performed the ceremony.

Witnesses at the nuptials, which took nearly two hours, were Charles W. Nibley and Anthony W. Ivins, members of the first presidency of the church; C. Clarence Neslen, former Mayor of Salt Lake City, and Mrs. Neslen; Isaac Stewart, Smoot's secretary, and Mrs. Stewart; Mrs. Nettie Taylor, a sister of the bride, and Mrs. Louise Y. Robinson and Miss May Anderson, formerly associated with Mrs. Smoot in church work here.

Mrs. Smoot wore a white crepe gown and coat. She carried a corsage of roses and lilies of the valley. The Senator wore informal clothes.

The pair will leave here this afternoon for Provo, Utah, where Smoot has stayed for several years. No wedding reception will be held. About the middle of July they will go to San Francisco to sail July 19 for a honeymoon in Honolulu.

BRITISH ROYAL COURT ROMANCE

Queen's Lady-in-Waiting to Wed King's Equerry.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 2.—A love story of the royal court was disclosed today in the announcement of the engagement of Lady Katharine Hamilton, youngest daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Abercorn, and Lieutenant-Colonel Reginald Seymour.

Lady Katharine, who is 27 years old, is a lady-in-waiting to the Queen—the youngest she ever has had. She is an expert stenographer and her special duty has been to deal with the Queen's private correspondence. Col. Seymour, who is a widower, is 52. He has been Equerry to the King since 1916, and it has been at court functions as well as in the daily routine of life in the royal circle, that the engaged couple have been thrown into contact.

PISTOL OWNER IS INDICTED FOR LINGLE MURDER

True Bill in Chicago Accuses Frankie Foster, Held in Los Angeles—Move to Extradite Him.

4 MEN WITH HIM TO BE RELEASED

Detective Says He Knows the Accused Was at Scene and Gave Weapon to Actual Killer.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, July 2.—An indictment charging Frankie Foster, Chicago gunman under arrest in Los Angeles, with the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, was returned by the grand jury today.

Immediate steps were taken for the extradition of the fugitive, whose indictment was the first definite action following the murder three weeks ago. The indictment was returned after Coroner H. N. Bundesen and Peter von Frantzius, sporting goods dealer, testified before the grand jury. Von Frantzius said he sold the pistol found beside Lingle's body to Foster.

Chicago authorities at once communicated with Los Angeles authorities to arrange an extradition hearing. While Foster had not been accused previously as the actual killer, he is thought to have important information in connection with the murder.

Albert Blatz, an alleged Moran hoodlum, was arrested at his home today. He said he knew nothing about gang affairs, contending he was an officer of a cleaners and dyers company. He carried $600 in his pockets when arrested. He was held for questioning.

Detective Says Foster Gave Pistol to Lingle's Slayer.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 2.—Five Chicago gangsters are in jail here today pending extradition proceedings against their leader, Frankie Foster, wanted in connection with the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, newspaper reporter.

Foster, informed he had been indicted for the murder of Lingle, yawned and said, "Oh, right? Well, somebody had to be the goat. I was handy, so they elected me." Foster said he would not fight extradition. Scherping said he "had plenty on Foster."

Foster insisted the pistol used to kill Lingle and subsequently traced to him was taken from him by Chicago police more than a year ago and never returned. Foster also asserted he arrived here a few weeks before the Lingle killing.

Marvin Apler and Herman Walters, the others arrested, presumably came here with Foster. They said Foster planned to enter the beer game on a large scale. Walters described himself as an industrial engineer.

Mrs. Frankie Foster, wife of the leader, was booked for investigation, but police said she was not wanted in Chicago.

Edgar Dudley, Chicago police detective, who aided in the roundup here, said:

"We know Foster gave the gun to Lingle's slayer, and he is known to have been in the subway 10 minutes before the reporter was shot. He took care of the guns for Bugs Moran."

Foster was caught in a trap laid in his own apartment by Chicago and Los Angeles detectives. The officers trailed an automobile from Hollywood to an apartment house in the fashionable Wilshire district. The young woman's arrest followed. More than 50 detectives, headed by Leo M. Anderson and John Scherping of Chicago, hid in and near the building.

Foster and his bodyguard, Davis, were taken to the apartment where their apartment shortly after midnight Monday. The other three were apprehended earlier in the evening in an adjoining suite. None of the gangsters were armed, and not a shot was fired.

NATIONALIST ARMIES IN CHINA FORCE REBELS TO RETREAT

By the Associated Press. SHANGHAI, July 2.—Nationalist armies today forced Northern Alliance rebels to retreat slowly along the entire front in Northern Honan Province. The rebels gave way after 10 days' severe fighting along the Haichow-Tungkuang Railway in a struggle which may determine China's future government.

POLITICIAN ARRESTED IN COUNTERFEIT PLOT

Wealthy Realty Dealer Seized at His Mansion on Long Island.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Trail of secret service agents working to solve the counterfeit plot in which thousands of fake Andrew Jackson $20 bills were circulated in Eastern states led yesterday to the old colonial mansion of Charles S. Walls Sr., wealthy real estate man, florist and a Democratic leader in Malverne, L. I.

The secret service men rattled on the gates of the old home- stead and arrested Walls, who is 55 years old. Five others, thought to be members of the counterfeit gang, are under arrest.

The agents said the gang used the old mansion, the Walls residence of the late Martin Van Buren Wood, for many years county supervisor, as its headquarters. They say Walls was the leader. He has several grown children and has lived in Malverne 20 years.

Benjamin Grabowitz, 47, and his wife Bertha were previously arrested on charges of implication in the ring. They are close neighbors of the Walls family.

Four hundred feet back of the Walls house is the Grabowitz home, and close to a shack belonging to the latter family secret service men found one counterfeit plate used for the making of $20 bills. Chief Secret Service Agent Allan G. Straight of New York said $200,000 worth of fake Andrew Jackson bills of this denomination had been distributed by the ring.

Walls, who is one of the best known Democrats in his section of Long Island, has numerous times refused to run for local and county offices. Late, it is said, the industrial depression curtailed his real estate business.

Others previously arrested are Joseph Minklin, 46, and his brother, Isadore, 46, and Samuel Weiss, 45, of 3506 Marmalade avenue, Brooklyn.

The Minklin brothers are said to have admitted that $200,000 of the counterfeit money had passed out of their hands. No counterfeit money was found on any of those arrested.

The Senate members are Reed of Pennsylvania and Vandenberg, Michigan, Republicans, and Robinson, Arkansas, and Swanson, Virginia, Democrats. The House presiding officer appointed Hadley of Washington and Holaday of Illinois, Republicans, and Collins of Mississippi, and McSwain, South Carolina, Democrats.

In addition to the Senate and House members, the Commission will include the Secretaries of War, Navy, Agriculture, Commerce, Labor and the Attorney-General.

4000 PARADE AT FUNERAL OF SLAIN NEGRO COMMUNIST

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 2.—Escorting the body of Alfred Luro, Negro communist killed during a demonstration last Friday, 4000 Negroes and whites marched through Harlem yesterday.

To the tune of the Internationale, and with raised fists, they paraded for almost 50 blocks through the Negro district without disorder. Thirty communists marching to the former pool hall where Luro's body lay in state were dispersed by police because they had no permit for a parade and in the ensuing riot Gonzalo Gonzales, a Mexican communist, was fatally shot by a policeman who said the man had seized his club and beaten him.

By CALVIN COOLIDGE

Second of a series of daily dispatches written for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and other newspapers by the former President of the United States.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., July 2.—This country was not made on the theory that we should "eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow we die." Its founders were more accustomed to prepare themselves with fasting and prayer that they might meet the serious obligation to live through the morrow. They had their feast days, too, for they found a great happiness in their work. But these were a time of thanksgiving and praise.

Instead of falling back and falling down on the claim that the world owed them a living, they moved forward and moved up on the principle that they owed the world the duty of providing for themselves. They sought to live in the things of the spirit. They put first things first. They set small store on the things that are temporal, but strove mightily for the things that are eternal.

It is this nation is to endure, we shall have to continue to walk by their light. We cannot give all our thought to material success. We cannot be relieved of all hardships. We should not faint at the first obstacle. We must accept the lot of finite human beings, and with deeper faith and higher courage work out our own salvation through our own sacrifice.

FIRE DESTROYS FACTORY RUN WITH CONVICTS OF KENTUCKY

Loss at Chair Establishment at Frankfort More Than $100,000; Partly Covered by Insurance.

By the Associated Press. FRANKFORT, Ky., July 2.—The Frankfort chair factory, operated with convict labor, was virtually destroyed late today by fire that spread to the shirt factory and threatened the broom factory.

More than 800 convicts working in the buildings left in order and reformitory officials said they had no reports of anyone being injured.

The buildings are near the State reformitory and are surrounded by a wooden stockade.

Within an hour after the fire started it was thought to be under control, with comparatively little loss to the shirt factory, except for water damage and charred eaves. The broom factory was saved. A residence across the railroad tracks from the stockade was burned.

The chair factory building, owned by the State, was valued at about $50,000 and was covered by insurance. The equipment and supplies in it, valued at $56,000, owned by the Kenney Furniture Co., were partly insured.

SOUTHERN CROSS IN CHICAGO SALUTES ENDURANCE FLYERS

Kingsford-Smith and Companions to Resume Trip to Oakland, Cal., Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, July 2.—Wing Commander Kingsford-Smith arrived over Sky Harbor airport at 2:47 p. m. today in his famous plane Southern Cross, with which he saluted John and Kenneth Hunter, who were on their record endurance flight in the City of Chicago.

The Southern Cross circled the field, flying 200 or more yards behind the City of Chicago. At the completion of the circle, Kingsford-Smith shot ahead of the endurance plane, waving his wings in salute and headed for Curtiss-Reynolds Field, where he landed. An escort of several small planes followed the Southern Cross.

Kingsford-Smith was to stay in Chicago overnight. He made reservations at a hotel and arranged to have his plane placed in a hangar at Curtiss Field until tomorrow morning.

The Southern Cross, which recently flew from Ireland to New Foundland, took off from Roosevelt Field this morning on the first leg of the transcontinental flight to Oakland, Cal., which will end a journey around the world.

Delegation From Atlanta, Ga. His Home Town, Joins in Reception.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 2.—Bobby Jones, returning from a successful golf invasion of England, was greeted by a delegation from Atlanta, Ga., and a continuing crowd of New York City and a small army of friends from his old home town. He landed at the Battery at 2 p. m. and 15 minutes later was at City Hall.

A crowd of several thousands massed in Battery Park as Bobby stepped ashore from the municipal tug Macom, which had taken him off the Europa at Quarantine and other thousands lined lower Broadway on the route to City Hall.

Ticker tape showered down on him and a continuing roar of applause and cheers followed him through the narrow, canyon-like streets. Bobby seemed to be in fine condition and said he felt that he had never felt better.

Bobby had his old trustworthiness "Calamity Jane" and all the rest of his clubs along with him. A dispatch from England had said he had forgotten them in London. As to his future plans, after the amateur next September, he grinned and said: "I have got to get back to work and make a living."

Bobby said he hadn't swung a club on the trip across, and was anxious to get out to Minneapolis and try out the champion.

Mayor Walker lost his reason with one of his slaps on the back with the other, shouting a greeting into his ear. Jones broadcast his thanks to the reception from the newly stalled broadcasting station across the street.

The Mayor grasped Bobby's hand with one of his slaps on the back with the other, shouting a greeting into his ear. Jones broadcast his thanks to the reception from the newly stalled broadcasting station across the street.

Death Sentence for Assault. DUNCAN, Ok., July 2.—E. H. Hembree, 39 years old, pardoned murderer, has been sentenced to death for assaulting and shooting his way out of the prison at McAlester, Ok., March 9.

Emptying His Pistol. Barker fired until his ammunition exhausted and leaped back the machine just as the other machine pulled away. Barker only a few feet behind the machine at State and Madison streets. It was there that the bomb was dropped. Barker never kept the machine in sight had nearly overtaken it at Washington and Madison street when his own motor died, his gas exhausted. The gunmen's car appeared in the traffic.

Ex-St. Louis Art Critic and Husband

MRS. JOSEPH FIELD, who before her secret marriage a month ago was Miss Frances Batty, secretary of the Newhouse Galleries and writer on art subjects for St. Louis newspapers, and her husband, 19-year-old son of the prominent Stanley Fields of Chicago and grandson of the late Marshall Field. Mrs. Field is 32. The picture of Field was made three years ago when he was a member of the McMillan expedition to Greenland.

ADOLPHUS BUSCH GIVES RESIDENCE TO EX-WIFE

29 Acres on Grandview Farm
Also Put in Trust as Divorce Settlement.

Grandview Farm, the 121-acre Adolphus Busch estate on Gravois road, was divided yesterday in connection with a property settlement between Adolphus Busch III and his divorced wife, Mrs. Florence Parker Busch. Mrs. Busch will have the exclusive use of the house and 23.34 adjoining acres and Busch will receive title to the remaining 97.66 acres.

Two deeds were filed with the Recorder at Clayton, one placing the house and 23.34 acres in trust with the Lafayette-South Side Bank & Trust Co. to be used by Mrs. Busch as her home until her death or remarriage.

The other deed transferred the remaining acreage, including a deer park, from Mr. and Mrs. Busch to Rudolph A. Huber, vice president of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., who in turn will transfer it back to Busch. In effect, attorneys said, Mrs. Busch relinquished her dower rights in the property for the exclusive use of the home.

WOMAN AND MAN FLEE AFTER HOLDUP OF COLORADO BANK

Exchange Shots With Officers of Depository at Peyton; Robber
Apparently Wounded.

PEYTON, Colo., July 2.—A woman and a man armed with shotguns exchanged shots with officers of the Farmers' State Bank here today in escaping after a holdup. The pair fled in an automobile toward the Black Forest, northeast of Colorado Springs, with an undetermined amount of loot from the bank.

The man entered the bank, while his woman companion, who was dressed in overalls, waited outside in the car. As the robber departed with currency he had taken from the counter, three officers of the bank seized rifles and opened fire.

Their bullets were answered by blasts from the shotguns. The robber apparently was hit. He staggered as he ran to the automobile.

Windows in the bank were shattered by the bullets.

RADIO SALUTE TO ST. LOUIS

Brief talks describing advantages of St. Louis were broadcast by radio stations affiliated with the National Broadcasting Co. last night in the Salute to St. Louis program of the Westinghouse Electric Co. Musical numbers were preceded by explanations of the feature which suggested it. In this manner were connected "Muddy Waters" and waterways; "Flower Song" and Shaw's Garden; and "The Spirit of the Eagle" and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

L. W. Baldwin, president of the St. Louis Symphony Society, who heard the broadcast in Baltimore, Md., telegraphed to the Chamber of Commerce that the program offered "splendid evidence of what marked benefits can accrue to St. Louis" by the plan of broadcasting concerts of the Symphony Orchestra.

U. S. COURT OK'S INCREASE IN FIRE INSURANCE RATES

Grants Temporary Injunction Against State Interference but Orders Premium Money Impounded.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 2.—Stock fire insurance companies operating in Missouri today obtained a temporary injunction in Federal Court which prohibits state officials from interfering with the putting into effect of a rate increase of 16.2-3 per cent.

The order also provides that money received by the companies under the rate increase for policies shall be impounded pending permanent settlement of the rate dispute which has continued in this State for eight years.

The injunction was granted by three Judges, Judge Kimbrough Stone of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals presiding. Sitting with him were Judges Albert J. Reeves and Judge Merrill E. Otis of Federal District Court.

J. B. Thompson, State Superintendent of Insurance, contested the injunction petition, holding his department had not had sufficient time to investigate the need for the rate increase. The Court, however, held that Thompson's point was not well taken because the companies had notified the Insurance Department in December, 1929, of their intention to make the higher rate effective last Feb. 1.

Thompson suspended the proposed rate increase last February to June 1 and later refused to approve the increase of 16.2-3 per cent. The insurance companies filed injunction proceedings May 30.

W. S. McLucas, Kansas City, was named in the injunction order as agent for the Court to have charge of the impounded premium money. His bond was set at $100,000. The three Judges were expected to announce later today the date on which the temporary injunction will be made returnable.

The impounded money, which Thompson estimated would exceed $2,000,000 a year, will be kept in depositories selected by McLucas, and will draw interest at a rate of 2 1/2 per cent.

MOTHER, 18, LEAPS FROM PLANE IN PARACHUTE AT 15,000 FEET

By the Associated Press.
ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., July 2.—A young mother rode an airplane out of sight from the earth today and then stepped out into the clouds, making a perfect parachute landing. She is Mrs. Rita Schoemaker, about 18 years old, who left her home at 2956 Logan avenue, Chicago and her 2-year-old son Gilbert with a doctor at 1862 College street, South Bend, Ind., to work as a secretary in a Manhattan broker's office.

She read that a French woman had established a new record by jumping from a plane more than 14,000 feet from the ground. Today she went up to between 15,000 and 16,000 and bailed out.

As she was almost to the earth she passed within a few feet of high tension wires, but landed without realizing how perilous her position had been. She complained on landing of cold hands and of a bruised chin, which had been struck by her belt buckle when she jumped.

WOMAN, 77, HIT BY AUTO DIES

Mrs. Josephine Hood Was Struck
By Machine Last Wednesday.

Mrs. Saphronia Hood, 77 years old, a widow, of 8131 Ivory avenue, who was struck by an automobile last Wednesday evening, died at her home at 10 a. m. today. Dr. Bernard Bloch, family physician, reported she died of hyperstatic pneumonia, induced by the injuries suffered in the accident.

Mrs. Hood was struck when crossing Alabama avenue in the 8400 block by an automobile driven by Paul H. Beckman of 3023 Minnesota avenue. At Alexian Brothers' Hospital it was found she had suffered a skull injury, fractures of the ribs and lacerations. Her son, Walter, with whom she resided, had taken her home from the hospital.

NEW OFFICERS OF KIWANIS
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 2.—The Kiwanis International at their annual convention today elected Raymond M. Crossman of Omaha, Neb., president. Charles Jenkins of Brantford, Ont., and Harner Gratton of Madisonville, Ky., were elected vice presidents. Frederick C. W. Parker of Chicago was elected secretary and Walter R. Weisner of Daytona Beach, Fla., treasurer.

CITY WORKHOUSE SHOWS 'PAPER PROFIT' OF $31,578

Superintendent Estimates Value of Rock and Labor Supplied in Report.

A "paper profit" of $31,578.80 in the operation of the City Workhouse during the fiscal year ended April 9 is shown by the annual report of Superintendent E. C. Freeze, who estimated the value of rock and labor supplied by the institution for public work.

The balance sheet shows expenditures of $164,819 and gross earnings of $196,397.80. Of the earnings, $103,755 represents the market value of rock taken from the Workhouse quarry and used by the city, and $92,642.80 the value of the work of inmates assigned to the public parks and other institutions.

The number of inmates averaged 366, or .026 per cent less than the previous year. Sixty-eight per cent were first offenders, 18 per cent second offenders, and 19 per cent third to forty-third offenders. Sixty-two per cent were white Americans, 24.6 per cent Negroes and 13.4 per cent foreign-born.

PUBLIC SERVICE AGAIN SEEKS STATE PERMIT FOR BUS LINE

Street Car Company Wants Commission to Assume Jurisdiction Over City.

The St. Louis Public Service Co. made another attempt today to have the State Public Service Commission assume jurisdiction over its bus lines in St. Louis, by asking the Commission at Jefferson City to grant it a permit to operate a bus line on Watson road between Southwest and Pernod avenues.

A similar application as to a bus line in Northwest St. Louis recently was dismissed by the Commission on the ground that its authority did not extend to buses operated wholly within a city, and the Supreme Court refused to entertain a petition of the company for a writ of mandamus ordering the Commission to grant the permit.

T. E. Francis, attorney for the company, said the company hopes by this action to obtain a permit from the Commission, or failing in that to obtain from the Supreme Court either an order that the permit be granted or an interpretation of the law under which it might be denied. In the former case the Supreme Court did not hand down an opinion and so gave no reason for its position.

St. Louis Metropolitan Zone Population Officially 1,290,118

POPULATION of the official metropolitan zone of St. Louis, as established two years ago with the collaboration of civic organizations and accepted by the Census Bureau, follows:

Unit	1930	1920	Gain	Per cent
St. Louis, city.....	518,252	472,897	45,355	8.5
St. Louis County, part.....	208,000	96,990	111,010	114.5
St. Clair County, part.....	133,334	110,582	22,751	19.6
Madison County, part.....	120,046	82,437	37,609	45.6
St. Charles, city.....	10,486	8,503	1,983	23.3
Total.....	1,290,118	1,071,410	218,708	20.4

Final figures are given in St. Clair and Madison County and St. Charles. The St. Louis County figure is a close estimate, the four principal townships of the county being included in the zone and only Meramec Township excluded. The St. Louis figure is likely to be appreciably larger when final announcement is made for the city. The metropolitan zone includes nine townships of St. Clair County and seven of Madison County. Population of the whole of St. Clair, Madison and St. Louis counties and the cities of St. Louis and St. Charles aggregates 1,341,934, compared with 1,125,552 in 1920, a gain of 216,382, or 19.2 per cent.

cluded are 37 cities with more than 5000 population, compared with 29 in 1920. There was no change in the decade in the number between 2500 and 5000.

Rural Population Decreases.
In 1920 the State had an urban population of 1,586,902 and a rural population of 1,817,152, a total of 3,404,055. It has about 1,785,000 rural population now, so that there has been a noticeable decrease among country inhabitants in the last decade, while there has been a large gain in the urban class, accounting for the estimated increase in the State's total population.

Seven Pass 5000 Mark.
Seven cities of Missouri jumped from the 2500-5000 class to that above 5000. They are: Clayton and Kirkwood, St. Louis County; Washington, Booneville, Marville, Sikeston and Warrensburg; Richmond Heights, St. Louis County, which was under 2500 in 1920, is the eighth new city in the class above 5000. Ferguson and Brentwood, St. Louis County, and Crystal City, Fayette, Perryville, Rolla and Ste. Genevieve entered the 2500-5000 class from lower ranks. There are 118 Missouri towns rated.

MRS. GERTRUDE STUART GETS ANNULMENT

Testifies Husband, at Time of Wedding, Had Not Told of Previous Marriage.

The marriage of Mrs. Gertrude Webb Stuart, 901 Moorlands drive, Clayton, to Edwin A. Stuart, president of the Stuart Aero Products Co. of Sparta, Ill., was annulled by Circuit Judge Nolte at Clayton today after a brief hearing in which it was shown that Stuart had not told his wife of a previous marriage.

Two weeks after they were married, Mrs. Stuart testified, Stuart told her his divorce from his first wife, Mrs. Mary Louise Stuart, 4211 Lawn avenue, had been set aside. This was the first intimation she had of his first marriage, the witness testified.

The Stuarts were married May 15 last, after having met at Lambert-St. Louis field, where Stuart was an airplane pilot. Mrs. Stuart was interested in aviation at the time. She is a daughter of Frank C. Webb, president of the Webb-Boone Paving Co.

$6706 RAISED TO FINANCE ANOTHER ENDURANCE FLIGHT

O'Brien and Jackson Hope to Start July 13 in Effort to Restore Record to St. Louis.

Forest O'Brien and Dale Jackson have collected $6706 toward the $30,000 fund being raised to finance a flight to bring the endurance flying record back to St. Louis.

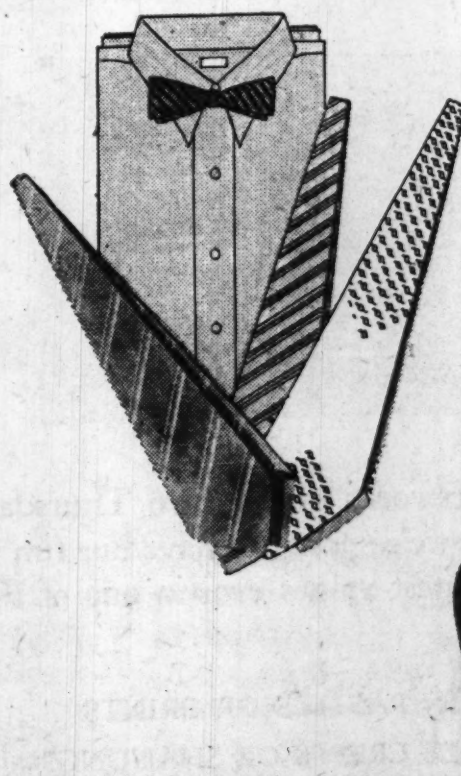

Preparations for the proposed flight are going forward, and Jackson and O'Brien hope to take off on July 13, the anniversary of the start of their last flight. Maj. Albert Bond Lambert, who will be official observer, received a telegram yesterday announcing that a special barograph to be carried by the fliers is being sent here from Washington. The fliers carried a barograph on their last flight, but it ceased to function after they had been in the air a week. It is understood that the new instrument will operate as long as the plane is in the air.

41 MORE ARRESTS IN 27 POLICE RAIDS

Number Taken in Dry Law, Anti-Gambling Drive Reaches 200.

The number of persons arrested for violation of the liquor and gambling laws in the police drive which started last week reached 300 yesterday when 41 persons were held as the result of 27 raids.

Beside the liquor and gambling squads from headquarters, police in the various districts were active yesterday and a canvass of the city for a slot machine survey, requested by Chief of Police Gerk, was started.

Fourteen-year-old Beale Aydelott was arrested after she asked Special Officer Edward Walsh if he didn't want to "play the machine" in her mother's confectionery at 4550 Gravois avenue. When the detective received no return for the chips he inserted in the slots, he took her and her mother, Mrs. Jennie Aydelott, to the Mount-District, where the mother gave bond and promised to produce her daughter in Juvenile Court.

The following persons also were arrested when slot machines were found in their place: Gus Kallmanis, 821 Pine street; Theodore G. Froelich, 511 Pine street; Charles Reiter and Donald J. Coe, 723 Pine street; Emil Wiegand, 3900 North Grand boulevard.

Proprietors of two cigar stores were arrested, police reporting that racing forms and betting tabs were found. They were Anthony Webbe, 1211 South Broadway, and Mike Stanzak, 1270 South Broadway. Jerome Terry was arrested at his flat, 702A South Broadway, where police say they found bookmaking supplies.

Five men playing cards in a basement at 911 O'Fallon street were arrested, five Negroes were held after a dice game in a basement at 2146 Walnut street was raided, and Carr Street District police arrested four Negroes when they found policy game slips at 2101 Carr street.

Those arrested when liquor was reported found on their premises were: James Thorpey, 5 South Ninth street; John Blazevich, 401 South Fourteenth street; Robert Roberts, 1102A Market street; Elmer Denty, 1405 North Broadway; Frank Keaton, 2116 Franklin avenue; Robert Feldhaus, 3514 Cass avenue; Otto Binski, 5011 Benedict avenue; John Mooney, 3003 North Sarah street; Joseph Greco, 2931 Chouteau avenue; Velma Dumas, 2654 Hickory street; Eugene Hasket, Negro, 1114 North Nineteenth street; Vincent Loglio, 1410 Francis street; Jerry Quillo, 904 North Twentieth street; Fary Tillman, 943 West Cabanne court; William Dean and Samuel Rodgers, Negroes, 2631 Wash street; Estelle Sherman, 4612 Olive street.

OK'd by Second Ward Democrats. The Second Ward Democratic precinct organization at a meeting last night in 4056 North Broadway endorsed Mrs. Ann Brady, committeewoman, and O. G. Schaefer, committeeman, for re-election.

UNEMPLOYMENT PREVENTION BILLS PASSED BY HOUSE

One Provides for Compilation of Statistics, Another for Creation of Work in Slack Times.

By RAYMOND F. BRANDT,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 2. — With little opposition in evidence, the House today adopted two bills of the three unemployment bills sponsored by Senator Wagner (Dem.) of New York. One bill provides for the compilation of complete and trustworthy unemployment statistics by the Labor Department, and another for the regulating of public construction in a way to create work in times of business depressions.

The third bill, opposed by Chairman Graham of the Judiciary Committee, would create a Federal employment service. Graham did not report the measure yesterday, although it had been approved by a majority of his committee.

Congressman John J. Cochran (Dem.) of St. Louis cited unemployment conditions in St. Louis to show the necessity of immediate work on public buildings.

"50,000 Jobless in St. Louis." "The number of unemployed in my city," said Cochran, "has been placed at over 50,000 and this is a conservative estimate, according to many well informed. It has reached such proportions that labor organizations are considering limiting the hours of work for its members so that their fellow craftsmen, out of work, will get an opportunity to earn sufficient for existence."

"What we should do before adjournment is to provide jobs for the unemployed. You may have seen that he done? We have authorized many projects running into the billions of dollars, but in these laws we also provided that the work was to be completed within a certain number of years. Some called for a 10-year program, others a five-year program."

"Why not consider doing these jobs in a year or two years or three years. Again you say, where will the money come from? If necessary, arrange for a bond issue to carry out the authorizations. Why delay flood control work 10 years? Put enough men to work and you can do the job in two years."

Need Employment Now. The same applies to the rivers and harbor authorizations. People can not secure food on promises of work two, three or five years hence. What they want now and what they must have is employment.

"Congress has created a great public-building program. Several years ago you authorized a new Federal building in St. Louis. The money was appropriated for the site and a year ago the money was appropriated for the building."

"The Treasury Department has not even acquired the site. After over a year of dickering with the property owners condemnation proceedings were instituted. In several months the site will be in the hands of the Government. Just think of it—about two years to acquire the site."

"This is a national problem, and we should not go home until we have done something to alleviate existing conditions."

FIFTH MAN NAMED TO BODY FOR SHIPPING BOARD INQUIRY

George S. Jackson, Baltimore Exporter Appointed; One More Member Needed.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—George S. Jackson, a Baltimore exporter, was named yesterday by President Hoover to the commission of experienced men he is forming to inquire into the sale of Atlantic lines by the Shipping Board.

It also was announced at the White House that Charles Piz, a Chicago engineer, who had been tentatively appointed, would be unable to serve because of ill health and another appointment would be made to bring the commission up to the proposed six members.

Those already named, in addition to Jackson, are Edward N. Hurley of Chicago, former chairman of the Shipping Board; H. G. Dalton, of Cleveland, Ira A. Campbell of New York, former admiralty counsel for the Shipping Board, and Clarence M. Woolley of New York, president of the American Radiator Co.

Jackson served under President Hoover in the food administration.

Chicago Restaurant Bombed.

CHICAGO, July 2.—A West Side restaurant was damaged early today by a bomb explosion, which shattered windows in nearby buildings. The restaurant had been closed two hours and no one lived in the floors above.

ATTIC DWELLER GETS 1-10 YEARS IN KILLING

Otto Sanhuber Convicted of Manslaughter for Slaying
Fred Oesterreich.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 2.—Otto Sanhuber was convicted last night of manslaughter for the slaying of Fred Oesterreich, Milwaukee, (Wis.) manufacturer, in whose attic he dwelt 11 years to be near Mrs. Oesterreich, his sweetheart. The verdict carries a prison sentence of one to 10 years. Sanhuber was led to a cell to await pronouncement of sentence tomorrow.

Although the prosecution asked for the death penalty, not one juror, Mrs. Rita Harlan, foreman said, voted for a first degree murder verdict in the seven ballots taken.

Kearl Wakeman, defense attorney, said he would seek to have the verdict set aside on the ground that statute of limitations had outlawed a manslaughter verdict. Sanhuber's plea of not guilty because of insanity remains to be disposed of. Mrs. Oesterreich, jointly accused with Sanhuber, won a separate trial, which will open in a week.

Sanhuber confessed the crime to the grand jury, but during his trial repudiated his story, saying Herman Shapiro, Mrs. Oesterreich's attorney, coached him in it and told him it would save her from punishment.

Mail Burned in Plane Crash.
CHICAGO, July 2.—The second section of the New York-Chicago air mail, with Pilot Robert P. Hopkins at the stick, crashed near Middlebury, Ind., at 5 a. m. today. The town is seven miles east of Goshen. National Air Transport offices here learned the plane was flying low and probably struck communication wires, crashing and burning. Plane and 850 pounds of mail were destroyed but the pilot escaped without injury.

NO MORE COLD CREAMS

No More Skin Foods or Astringents This New Way

A Scientific Discovery that Condenses a Complete Professional Facial Into a Single Application, Taking Less Than 3 Minutes, That Combines the 4 Fundamentals in Skin Care Urged by Experts!

NOW comes a remarkable new development in beauty science. A discovery that experts say will soon change all previous methods in skin care.

A way that condenses the four fundamentals of scientific skin care into a single, three-minute home application! And that provides the exact same effect of a Complete Professional Facial costing $3 or more.

What It Does

It scientifically combats blackheads and enlarged pores, combats them often with almost unbelievable results. It banishes premature age lines, and the lines of strain and worry. For each application works directly on each of these conditions.

Cleansing creams, skin foods, astringents and powder bases are completely eliminated—for the functions of all four are embodied in one unique creation.

It completely eliminates the use of costly special creams and lotions. Of old-time cleansing creams, of skin foods and astringents. For the functions of all four are embodied in this one unique creation.

Do you wonder, then, that largely on expert advice, tens of thousands of women are adopting it?

What It Is

It is called Lady Esther Four-Purpose Cream. And it marks the application of totally new principles in skin care as defined by the most recent scientific findings of ablest specialists in the field of beauty culture.

Each application has four distinct actions on the skin. Cleansing action that cleanses the pores. And thus ends the use of the ordinary cleansing cream. Tissue stimulating action that invigorates the deep tissues of the skin. And thus that ends the use of a special "Skin Food."

LADY ESTHER
FOUR-PURPOSE FACE CREAM

The four fundamentals of skin care are condensed into a single, 3-minute application.

Astringent action that eradicates worry, strain, and premature age lines, refines pores. And thus that makes the use of youth creams and astringents a folly.

Softening action that forms a perfect base for powder. And thus banishes the need of a powder base.

Those four things it does. Age lines soon go under this daily care. Flabby tissues strengthen and become firm. The skin is kept clean—for the astringent action of this cream closes the pores after they've been cleaned. And thus closes them against accumulations that foster imperfections.

HOUSE VOTES $250,000 FOR CRIME BOARD

Item Reduced to $50,000 by Senate Increased to Original Sum, $110 to 16.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
201-205 Kellogg Bldg.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Oiled and polished for the final days of the session, the House steam-roller operated this afternoon to place in a pending deficiency bill the $250,000 desired by the President, for another year's work of the Wick-ersham Commission on Law En-forcement.

The House thereby again joined issue with the Senate, which recently voted, on motion of Senator Glass (Dem.), Virginia, to limit the appropriation for the next fiscal year to $50,000 and require that all of it be used in an investigation of prohibition enforcement.

The House proposal both in-creases the amount and permits the investigation to be made into "the enforcement of prohibition and other laws."

President Hoover announced after the recent action of the Senate that if funds were not forthcoming for the general law enforcement investigation, he would see that they were supplied from private sources. This will be unnecessary if today's action of the House is sustained. What the Senate will do in the face of this new chal-lenge from the lower branch re-mains to be seen.

Special Hurdle Adopted.
When the question of funds for the Wickersham Commission first came up in the House, the $250,000 item was stricken out on a point of order raised by Congressman La Guardia (Rep., New York). La Guardia contended that the House rules were violated by the inclusion of funds for a purpose not specifically provided for by law. He pointed out that the Wickersham investigation had not been authorized for a second fiscal year.

This objection was overcome by the House leaders today through the standard device of a special rule to meet the situation. The procedure was circuitous and il-luminating.

First, the Committee on Rules brought in a special rule "that it shall be in order, all rules of the House to the contrary notwith-standing, for the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Wood, to move to con-cure in the Senate amendment with an amendment." The Senate amendment was the Glass $50,000 item and the proposed amendment was a complete substitute for that item.

The rule was shouted to adoption, whereupon Congressman Wood of Indiana, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, made the motion for the substitution.

Wets Principally Opponents.
On a viva voce vote the ayes had it by a large majority. Congress-man Cramton (Rep., Michigan), an Anti-Saloon League champion, desiring to make the victory im-pressive, called for a division. A standing vote was taken, and the ayes won by 110 to 16. The nega-tive votes came almost wholly from the wet bloc.

Congressman Linthicum (Dem.), Maryland, a wet leader, made the point of no quorum. This had the effect of bringing about a roll call, which showed 272 for the Wood motion and only 41 against it.

Cochran (Dem.), St. Louis, was the only Missourian voting against the motion.

DECLARED DEAD 15 YEARS AGO RETURNS TO CLAIM ESTATE
Joseph R. Stuart, Who Disappeared From Mowena (Ill.) in 1905 Lived in St. Louis.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SHELBYVILLE, Ill., July 2.—Missing from Shelby County for the last 25 years and declared legally dead more than 15 years ago, Joseph R. Stuart, 615 Walnut street, St. Louis, has returned to Shelbyville, only to find that the $48,000 estate, of which he was an heir, has been distributed.

In 1905, Stuart left Mowena, Shelby County, and nothing more was heard from him until Tuesday, when he returned. He was one of the heirs of the $48,000 Friedley estate. Settlement of the estate was made among six other heirs. Stuart is planning to file suit against the administrator and heirs to recover his share. He declares that some of his relatives knew all along where he was. For the last seven years he has lived in St. Louis. He did not say where he had been before that time.

U. S.-Estonia Treaties.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, July 2.—Estonia has deposited with the League of Na-tions treaties of arbitration and se-curity concluded between her gov-ernment and the United States last August. The two treaties are sim-ilar to numerous others made by the United States and deposited with the League. Estonia, one of 27 states bound by an optional clause of the World Court statutes giving the court compulsory juris-diction, has similar treaties with seven other states.

Reichstag O. K.'s Amnesty Bill.

Boy Knocked Down By Bull.
Leonard Haase, 8 years old, of 821 Winstanley avenue, East St. Louis, suffered cuts and bruises yesterday when knocked down by a 1600-pound Holstein bull in front of his home. The animal, which had escaped from the stockyards at National City, Ill., was captured after a 30-block chase, in which it knocked down a picket fence, broke off a small tree and struck the boy. Brought from a farm near Waterloo, Ill., to be sold, the animal broke down a barrier around the pen. It was captured and tied to a tree, which it broke off.

UNITED CIGAR STORES ANNOUNCE a new BOOK-A-MONTH PLAN

NEVER before in the history of book publishing has an idea such as The Mystery League—the United New-Book-a-Month-Plan been attempted.

Now United brings to you each month a brand new detective story or book of mystery never before published in this country. These books will be called The Mystery League and every book will be written by a well known author.

Much has been said recently about the price of regular standard books of fiction. Therefore, we are glad to announce the first book in The Mystery League which will be on sale exclusively in our stores June 26th and the price is 50c per copy

THE HAND OF POWER BY EDGAR WALLACE

The Mystery League books are attractive—full standard size—bound in cloth boards and printed on the best book paper stock. In fact, here is a regular $2.00 book value which we are offering for 50 cents.

A limited edition of each book will be published. When the edition is exhausted there will be no more copies available. You can subscribe for forthcoming books if you desire.

JUDGE FARIS SAYS HE'LL HOLD LEVEE SUIT 'FIELD DAY'

Declares Quarrels Between Landowners Are More Troublesome Than Settling of Cases.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., July 2.

A field day will be held here early in September when Federal Judge Faris will try flood control cases "until you are sick and tired of them," he announced yesterday at the conclusion of the first jury trial of a Government condemnation suit in connection with the Southeast Missouri set-back levee.

More trouble is threatened in settling the quarrels between the defendants than in settling these cases, the court remarked. He referred to the inordinately complicated claims of a variety of mortgage holders and bond holders, for the settlement of which no formula has been devised.

"I'm going to try," Judge Faris added, "to keep out of my court the quarrels arising in attempting to settle these private fights between citizens of Missouri. There is a very grave doubt whether this court has any jurisdiction in such questions wholly between Missourians."

The case which he concluded hearing late yesterday was that of the Francis Ralph Realty Co., holding concern for the 2080-acre Mississippi County farm of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Niedringhaus of St. Louis. Defense counsel waived jury trial, declaring he had no right to it, although attorneys in other cases argued for hours in demanding that right. The amount involved in this case is the largest in all the similar cases pending except one and might be beyond the sympathies of jurymen to be found in this section. Viewers for the court estimated compensation for the 193.72 acres taken for right-of-way, with consequential damage to adjacent property of Dr. and Mrs. Niedringhaus at $59,477.

Judge Faris took the case under advisement, with a stipulation that his opinion can be rendered in St. Louis and filed here without a special trip of the court to Cape Girardeau for that purpose.

Argument of defense. J. L. London, attorney for the defense, concluded his case with a shrewd argument for sustaining their award, to which only the Government, and not the defense, had filed exceptions. He pointed out that the burden of over-turning the viewers' estimate lay with the Government, since only the Government had accepted. The Government, he remarked, had introduced no evidence to support its charges against the viewers. All that remained to upset the estimate was error. All that the Government had produced to show error, he argued, was a difference of opinion among its own experts. In that situation, he contended, one opinion was as good as another, except for that of the viewers which was reached after first hand survey of the property with authority of the court and therefore should stand.

Hearing was comparable to that on a demurrer, and so the defendant was entitled to the most favorable evidence of any witness, whether his own or the plaintiff's. Hence, he declared, in the difference of opinion, the court might take the highest estimated percentage of damage and apply it to the highest estimate of original value. For example, one witness had estimated damage of 36 per cent on $100,000 value, and another had estimated a smaller percentage of damage on $142,000 value.

London asserted that the defendant was entitled to have the 36 per cent applied to the $142,000.

Affraid of Knappen.

Testimony in the case developed into a major engagement between arrayed ranks of engineers, L. T. Berthe of Charleston on one side single-handed against Theodore T. Knappen, Cairo area engineer and several assistants on the other.

Retaining of Berthe by counsel in this case and several to follow was in some measure a compliment to the young Cairo engineer, although it gave him some uneasy moments on cross-examination. The decision to hire an expert was reached by landowners' attorneys when Knappen, youthful, smiling, obviously fair-minded and intent on stating things as they are made a tremendous impression on a jury which cut down the viewers' award by thousands in the first such suit to go to trial.

Much of the expert testimony concerned a $600,000 drainage ditch which the Government is building in lieu of money compensation for drainage intercepted by the set-back levee.

This levee, as is known, is to limit to a five-mile width the southeast Missouri floodway, between Birds Point and New Madrid, which is to relieve the main river levees of excess waters in extreme floods. The levee right-of-way cuts a swath through one section of Dr. Niedringhaus' land from northeast to southwest. It enters another section at the north-east corner and swings southward along the middle line, taking a swath of 82 acres. The drainage ditch starts near Birds' Point, and for the most part, follows exist-

PUNISHED FOR FLYING PLANE

Michigan U. Student, Hurt in Crash, Suspended for Semester.
ANN ARBOR, Mich., July 2.—

University of Michigan officials have added discipline to injury for James D. Morton of Douglas, Wyo., who is the first student to be punished under the rule which prohibits operation of airplane without permission.

Morton, a student flyer, failed to obtain permission to practice in his plane and the university first learned that he was flying when he fell into Devil's Lake near Adrian, Mich., on May 31, and suffered fractures of several ribs and other injuries. He was suspended for the first semester of next year. The anti-airplane rule is an extension of the regulation which forbids student operation of automobiles.
Those seeking pilot's licenses, however, may obtain permission to fly.

MURDER CONSPIRACY INDICTMENT DROPPED

Brother of Attorney R. Shad
Bennett Accused of Plot Against Butcher.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MURPHYSBORO, Ill., July 2.—
Ransom Bennett, brother of R.
Shad Bennett, St. Louis attorney, and jointly indicted with him and Archer Britt, also a St. Louis lawyer, for conspiring to murder Olen King, West Frankfort butcher, was freed of the charge yesterday when the State dismissed the case against him.

State's Attorney Lewis said he was unwilling to proceed until Shad Bennett and Britt had been brought into the jurisdiction of the court. Gov. Emmerson has refused to issue a requisition for them on the ground there was no showing they were in Illinois on or about the dates charged in the indictment. Lewis said the case against Ransom Bennett would be resubmitted to the grand jury if the others are arrested in Illinois.
The State charged Ransom Bennett became involved in the alleged conspiracy when he traced King, who had moved from West Frankfort to Carbondale, and gave him his new address to his brother.
The indictment of the three men followed the statement of a St.
Louis private detective that he had been hired by Shad Bennett to kill King so that Bennett could collect a $20,000 insurance policy which King had given him to secure a debt.

HUNG JURY IN "JAKE" SALE

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Ky., July 2.—The trial of Charles Eaton, Corbin (Ky.) druggist, charged with sale of Jamaican ginger for beverage purposes, resulted yesterday in a hung jury in the special Federal Court of Judge A. M. J. Cochran.
The charges were preferred by Will Hacker, Corbin contractor, and the jury was out three hours.
Eaton was held under $5 additional indictments.

ing channels until it reaches the Niedringhaus land.

Hindrance, Not Help.
There it will enter the "barrow pit" from which earth is taken from the levee. That pit will be enlarged to a ditch 10 feet deep and, at the surface, 210 feet wide.
Berthe, "devil's advocate" against the Jadin plan of flood control since its inception, declared the drainage ditch would be a menace rather than a help. He said it would be a ready channel for backwater to follow north from St.
John's Bayou, into which the ditch empties. In this manner, he said, it would increase the frequency of backwater overflow to the extent of three to four years in 20.

He declared that the Wolf's Hole ditch, which would empty into the drainage ditch near the Niedringhaus land would deliver 200 cubic feet a second more than the drainage ditch could carry off.
Defense Attorney James Finch of New Madrid explained to the Court that he proposed to show that the army engineers figured in a slope that would have been adequate, but, when they found the actual slope was less, did not enlarge the ditch to compensate.
Berthe said the 85 square miles which the ditch would have to drain, where it reached the Nied-ringhaus property, would have a run-off of 1680 second feet, approximately the capacity of the Wolf's Hole ditch, whereas the drainage ditch would have a capacity of 1600 second feet. He said he computed run-off by a formula developed in his 22 years' experience, which in this case coincided with the Cypress Creek formula which the Government used. The Cypress Creek formula, he explained, gave the run-off per square mile 25 divided by the sixth root of the number of square miles.

The sixth root, he declared, was the square root of the square root of the square root. Knappen smiled and whispered to Special Government Counsel John C. Dyott, who had Berthe repeat his explanation. Dyott called Knappen in rebuttal and he testified the analysis Berthe had given as the basis of his computations would give the eighth root and not the sixth root.

Case Under Adjudication.
The sixth root properly, he said, was the square root of the cube root. On that basis, he pointed out, the run-off would be 1424 second feet instead of 1780. While Berthe had arrived at the slope from different data, Knappen said, the carrying capacity he estimated, 1535 second feet, was not materially different from Berthe's estimate.

This, he pointed out, was 100 second feet above the run-off as computed by the Cypress Creek formula. He and three other Government engineers testified there was no reasonable expectation that the drainage ditch would increase the frequency of overflow, since back water now has a much wider, though somewhat longer, natural channel from St. John's Bayou.

Government experts on land values estimated damage to the property by the proposed levee and ditch variously at $25,210, $28,000 and $30,815. Defense experts estimated it at $75,015, $66,889 and $60,000. A fourth defense expert said damage to land on one side of the levee only would amount to $44,373.

CHICAGO VOTES FOR SUBWAY BY 5 TO 1 MAJORITY

Traction Ordinance Also Provides for Unifying and Extending the Present Systems.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 2.—The referendum yesterday on Chicago's traction franchise ordinance for unifying the city's traction systems, extending surface and elevated lines and building a subway carried by a 5 to 1 majority. The proposal was favored in every ward. The vote was light, only $25,468 registering approval and $8,212 disapproval. (Chicago's total vote on President in 1928 was 1,290,955.)

Before final returns were in, the Citizens' Committee, headed by James Simpson, president of Marshall Field & Co., sent out word to get busy and build. The Amalgamated Transit Co. has pledged $200,000,000 in improvements in the next 10 years. Samuel Insull, whose interests control the new company, said his engineers had prepared working plans two months ago and were ready to start action.

"We want the subways started as soon as possible," declared the aldermanic committee favoring the ordinance.

Merger Involves $261,000,000. The ordinance also provides for a merger of transit companies involving $261,000,000.

The project was submitted to the voters after decades of discussion, years of anticipation and months of financial, legislative and engineering action. Briefly, the plan approved will pool the management of the surface and elevated line systems in a new directing organization; extend the surface tracks by 245 miles, the elevated tracks 215 miles and create 44 miles of subway through the congested downtown and near West Side localities.

The two companies now operate 1000 miles of street car lines and 160 miles of elevated trackage, managed by the Insull interests.

Contentions of Opposition. A controversy over the ordinance, including newspaper discussion, mass meetings, statements and curbstone harangues, has raged for several weeks. The ordinance was opposed on the allegations that it would grant permanent control over transportation to the Insull interests; that it granted a perpetual franchise; that it would increase fares, and that it made a "gift" of the city's $61,000,000 traction fund to the Insull interests.

Proponents of the ordinance emphasized the need for subways to take traffic pressure off the elevated "loop." They argued that outlying residential and industrial districts would be brought many minutes closer to downtown Chicago and to each other by the ordinance.

BILL UNIFYING IMMIGRATION AND CUSTOMS PASSES HOUSE

Measure Is Fourth of Hoover Law Enforcement Group Designed to Stop Crime.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 2.—Overriding the opposition from Great Lakes States Representatives, the House yesterday approved another law enforcement proposal of President Hoover in passing a bill creating a unified border patrol. The vote was 181 to 56.

The measure now goes to the Senate, where it is doubtful whether favorable action can be secured at this session. It is designed to prevent smuggling of aliens, liquor and merchandise by making entry illegal except at points to be designated by the President.

Patrols of the Immigration and customs service would be consolidated and placed on a civil service basis under an Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of Coast Guard affairs.

The measure is the fourth of the major proposals of the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission recommended to Congress by the Chief Executive. Two of them, transfer of dry enforcement to the Justice Department and expansion of the Federal prison system have been enacted, but the plan to authorize juryless trials before United States Commissioners is pending in the Senate.

WAR MOTHER ILL IN FRANCE AFTER VISIT TO SON'S GRAVE

Salem (Ore.) Woman Has Heart Attack; Second Member of "H" Party Stricken.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, July 2.—Mrs. Jennie Landgraf, Salem, Ore., a member of the "H" party of Gold Star mothers, is confined to a hotel at Lille following a heart attack.

Mrs. Landgraf, second member of the party to fall ill, was stricken after she had visited her son's grave in Flanders. Her condition was described as "not immediately serious" and it was said she might return to Paris in a few days.

Mrs. Edwin Lange, Oshkosh, Wis., whose illness last week necessitated a blood transfusion, is improving steadily. She probably will be able to leave the American Hospital in time to return home with her party.

Going to Son's Grave in France. By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 2.—The mother of the first United States army officer killed in action in France will begin Saturday a journey to the Somme cemetery. She is Mrs. Catherine Fitzsimmons. Her son, Lieut. William T. Fitzsimmons attached to the Harvard hospital unit was killed by a German aerial bomb Sept. 4, 1917.

SANITY EXAMINATION ORDERED OF HOTEL FIRE DEFENDANT

Three Physicians to Report on Mental Condition of Former Night Watchman.
Three physicians will examine Andrew B. Meadows, former night watchman of the Buckingham Hot-tel Annex, before Sept. 2, and will report to Circuit Judge Taylor and Circuit Attorney Miller on his mental condition before Meadows is arraigned on murder and arson charges at the October term of court. Meadows has confessed that he set fire to the Annex Dec. 5, 1927, causing the deaths of seven guests. Robert H. Cotham, former night clerk at the Buckingham Hot-tel, has confessed complicity with Meadows. Louis E. Balsam, and Ralph Pierson, former owners of the hotel, are under the same charge and are at liberty on bond.
Judge Taylor issued instructions to the physicians to the effect that insanity can be a legal defense only if it causes so great a derangement as to render the person incapable of distinguishing between right and wrong. The examiners are Dr. Malcolm A. Bliss, Dr. R. C. Farley, superintendent of the City Sanitarium, and Dr. James Lewand, superintendent of the St. Louis Training School. The appointment of the examiners was at the request of Henry Janon, attorney, named by the court to defend Meadows.

POLICY ON ELK HILLS OIL LAND STATED BY HOUSE COMMITTEE

Measure for Protection of Reserve
Not to Be Pressed at This Session.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 2.—Legislation contemplated 18 years for the preservation of the navy's most valuable oil reserve has reached the House from its Naval Committee.
The bill, designed for the protection of reserve No. 1 at Elk Hills, Cal., will not be pressed at this session. The committee intends that its report should serve as a declaration of congressional policy.
The measure, introduced at the request of the Navy Department by Chairman Britten, would permit the acquisition of privately owned land in the heart of reserve
No. 1 either through exchange or through purchase with royalty oil.
Of the 38,068 acres comprising the reserve, the Government holds 30,396 with 5,922 acres patented by private interests and 1050 leased by private interests. The Standard Oil Co. of California possesses 5262 acres of the patented land.
Development of the private lands in the reserve, it was contended, would reduce the value of the naval lands as reserves through drainage.

COURT WON'T HALT ELECTION TO RECALL DETROIT MAYOR

Administration Forces Prepare to Take Fight to State Supreme Court.
DETROIT, Mich., July 2.—Circuit Judge Arthur Webster yesterday refused to grant an injunction against a recall election for the removal of Mayor Charles Bowles. The administration forces are preparing to carry their case to the Michigan Supreme Court in an effort to obtain a reversal of Judge Webster's decision.
Judge Webster, in denying the injunction petition, held that he had no right to interfere with the election, that the reasons for the recall appeared to conform to the requirements of the statute and that he could not go behind the face of the recall petitions to investigate alleged frauds.

THREATENED, HANGS HIMSELF

Louisville Auto Salesman Told in Note to Watch Out.
By the Associated Press.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 2.—Matthew Joel Yarbrough, 29 years old, salesman for an automobile agency, hanged himself today after worrying over a threatening note.
Noah Beck, an accountant for the firm said Yarbrough last night showed him a note which he said he had found in his machine and which read: "You had better watch out; we are going to take you for a ride." They speculated on the possibility that it might have been some one's idea of a joke, but this morning Yarbrough's body was found hanging in a back room at the agency's offices. His wife and 7-year-old child are visiting in Jackson, Miss. Letters from Mrs.
Yarbrough indicated no domestic or financial trouble.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Pay to foreigners who inform United States officials of efforts to violate the narcotic laws was authorized yesterday under a bill which received final congressional approval and now goes to the President.
The measure empowers the Bu-in the Treasury, to pay the informers through an accredited Consul or Vice Consul.

NEGRO DIES IN POLICE CELL

An autopsy will be performed on the body of James Anderson, 23 years old, a Negro, who died in a cell at police headquarters early today.
Anderson, who resided at 913 North Twenty-second street, was arrested at 8 o'clock last night on suspicion. At 1:30 a. m. a turnkey found the prisoner lying on the floor dead. There was a bruise on Anderson's head and indications were that he had rolled off the bench in his cell.

K'S PART OF RATE CHANGES SOUGHT BY SOUTHERN-PACIFIC

L. C. C. Examiner Makes Report on Schedule Based on Steamship Charges.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 2.—Rate changes sought by the Southern Pacific lines would be granted in part under a recommendation to the Interstate Commerce Commission by one of its examiners.
The railroad seeks to establish rates between New York and Baltimore on the Atlantic Coast and California ports on the Pacific Coast, over the Sunset-Gulf Ocean and Rail Route by way of Texas ports, equal to rates charged by intercoastal steamships utilizing the Panama Canal.

W. A. Disque, assigned to investigate the application, reported the railroad should be allowed to make the rates desired on its transcontinental business, at the same time keeping higher rates in effect to and from intermediate inland points where the canal competition cannot be made effective.
The commission must pass on the suggestion before it becomes effective.

CITY COMMITTEE ABANDONS G. O. P. PRIMARY SLATE

Indorsements of Candidates Almost Forgotten Within a Week After They Were Made.

The Republican City Committee's indorsed slate of candidates, which was intended to have the unified support of the 56 committee members in the primary Aug. 5, has been abandoned and all but forgotten, within a week after it was made.

At its weekly meeting last night, the committee said nothing about the slate, formed by majority vote on each office one week before. Individual members of the committee, seen before and after the meeting, said they would follow their own choices, regardless of the slate.

In most of the wards, the usual vote of precinct workers will be taken a few days before the primary, and the committeeman and committeewoman will send out to the voters of their ward a slate representing the wishes of the precinct workers, and of the committee representatives. This is just what has been done at past elections, at which the committee as a whole made no effort to put over a unified slate.

Gillespie for Richards.
Charles R. Gillespie of the Twenty-eighth Ward said that he would support Harry Richards for Prosecuting Attorney, instead of Police Judge Harry Rosecan, who was slated by the committee. Anton Klein of the Twenty-fourth said he would support Richards and the Bar Association slate of judicial candidates, which includes Alroy S. Phillips for Circuit Judge. The committee slate contains the name of Police Judge Clyde C. Beck in place of Phillips.

Chairman Pape, though he has not said that he will disregard the slate, is known to be still interested in the candidacy of Alderman John A. Fett for clerk of the Court of Criminal Correction, for which nomination the committee indorsed Gus A. Baur. Pape also sought to have the committee indorse Director Harry Salisbury for Circuit Clerk, and the Bar Association judicial slate. Instead, the committee indorsed Circuit Clerk Scholl for renomination.

Weeks Supporting Tamme.
"Frank" Weeks of the Eighteenth Ward said he would support William L. Tamme for renomination to the office of Recorder of Deeds, instead of Alderman Louis A. Lange, whom the committee indorsed.

The committee, as told last week, refused to accept the recommendations of a business and professional men's and women's committee, headed by John B. Edwards. That committee had recommended Salisbury for Circuit Clerk, Richards for Prosecuting Attorney and the Bar Association's selection for Circuit Judges. Having first rejected the advisory committee's work, the City Committee members are now proceeding to reject their own majority selections, each member making his or her own choice, which in some instances is the same as the committee's slate, and in other cases differs from it.

Mayor Miller is showing an especial interest in the candidacies of the two police judges. Rosecan for prosecutor and Beck for Circuit Judge. Beck's record in police court has been free from serious criticism. Rosecan was defeated for the Circuit bench in the 1928 election, after the Post-Dispatch had called attention to the free service extended to him by "Dinky" Colbeck's Canary Taxicab Co., according to the company's records shown in its bankruptcy case.

TWO MEN IN AUTO HOLD UP THREE OIL FILLING STATIONS

At 6951 Manchester Avenue, Robbers Get $30 from Cash Register.

Two men in an expensive sedan, thought to have been stolen, drove up to an oil filling station at 4951 Manchester avenue, at 10 o'clock last night, pointed a revolver at Cornelius Flynn, attendant, and directed him to toss his money into the tonneau of the car. Flynn said he carried no money. One robber kept him covered with the revolver while the second entered the station and took $30 from the cash register.

Twenty minutes later the same robbers appeared at station at Kingshighway and Potomac street and directed Robert Young to throw his money changer into the car. The changer contained $19, Young reported.

At 10:40 o'clock they held up Earl Ludwig, attendant at a station at 2169 Russell boulevard, and told him to throw his money into the car. Ludwig tossed in $1. Dissatisfied, one robber entered the station and stole the contents of the cash register, $4.
Four men, who sought to hold up Emil Dientsbach as he was parking his machine in a garage in the rear of his home, 5419 South Kingshighway, last midnight, fled without searching Dientsbach when his wife, Alma, screamed and fainted. Mrs. Dientsbach was carried into the home and revived by her husband.

Romaine Callender, Musician, Dies.
By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, July 2.—Funeral services will be held here tomorrow for Romaine Callender, director of the Metropolitan College of Music and author of several books on musical instruction, travel and fiction. He died at his home yesterday. Callender, who was 71 years old, will be buried at Brantford, Ontario, Canada, where he was once a conductor of musical societies. He was said to have been the inventor of pneumatic and electric organ devices and piano recording and reproducing apparatus. Callender was the uncle of Romaine Callender, the actor, and because the names are the same, it was at first reported the nephew was dead.

Health and Sun and Sport

WATCH them at tennis, watch them as their lean brown bodies flash through the water or curve downward from a diving board... note the sparkle of health in their eyes as a clean-stroked drive sails down the fairway... or go with them as they picnic over the week-end... and you'll see that they drink "Canada Dry."

For here is the sportsman's beverage. Outdoor people, the healthy men and women of this country, naturally prefer this fine old ginger ale.

Health, vigor and refreshment sparkle forth from each glass

Vigorous and bracing as a sail in a stiff breeze... delightful and refreshing as life outdoors itself... "Canada Dry" gives zest and exhilaration to countless people all over this country.

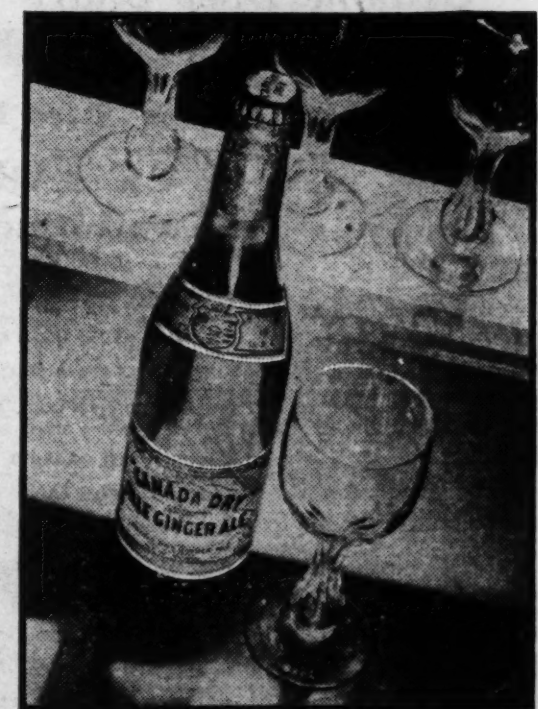

Why do sportsmen drink this fine old ginger ale? The answer lies in its quality, for like sportsmen themselves "Canada Dry" has basic excellence. Its very foundation is "Liquid Ginger"—which we make from selected Jamaica ginger root by a special process. This process is exclusively controlled by us and, unlike any other method, retains for "Canada Dry" all of the original aroma, flavor and natural essence of the ginger root. Rigid laboratory control assures uniformity, purity and highest quality. A special process of carbonation enables "Canada Dry" to retain its life and sparkle long after the bottle has been opened.

Its distinction recommends it as the appropriate drink to serve

With such methods, prepared with such care, the prestige which "Canada Dry" has won comes to it. Served in the Houses of Parliament at Ottawa... ordered on great transatlantic liners... the favored beverage in many great hotels and clubs... such is the distinction which connoisseurs have awarded to this wonderful beverage.

And it will grace your dinner table with the same prestige and distinction. Order it today for the Fourth of July holiday. Offer it to your friends. Nearly any occasion becomes even more pleasurable when the wonderful flavor, the marvelous refreshment, the inimitable taste of "Canada Dry" is a part of your hospitality. The Hostess Package of 12 bottles is a convenient way to make it a part of the picnic.

HAVE YOU TRIED—?

Canada Dry's new Golden Ginger Ale. Never before have you tasted a golden ginger ale with such a marvelous flavor. The secret of its delight comes from a secret and exclusive process of beverage making.

Canada Dry's new Sparkling Lime. This wonderfully refreshing beverage brings you the lure and romance of the tropics. Let it win you with its keen, cooling lime taste as it is winning countless others daily.

EFFORT TO UNIONIZE STEEL

ERECTION IN NEW YORK FAILS

Structural Board of Trade Discontinues Conferences with International Iron Workers.

Efforts to establish union working conditions in the steel erection industry in New York City have been unsuccessful, the Structural Steel Board of Trade voting yesterday to discontinue further conferences with the International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers, which has its headquarters in St. Louis. The conference was called last March by former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, when the employment of nonunion iron workers on the new Empire State Building in New York City resulted in the calling of strikes on projects being erected by the same contractor in Newark, N. J., and Cleveland, O.

Paul J. Morrin, international president of the iron workers, stated at that time that former Gov. Smith, a director of the Empire State Building, had previously promised that the work would be done by union workmen.

A tentative agreement was referred to William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. Difficulty arose over the phraseology of the agreement pertaining to working conditions and wages, and the expected settlement failed to materialize. As a result, open shop conditions will continue in Greater New York, despite persistent efforts of the international union to organize the industry.

The failure to reach an agreement in New York has no effect on the steel erection industry in St. Louis, all of which is done under union conditions.

MISSOURI PACIFIC EMPLOYEES OPERATE BIG BUSINESS

RAILROAD WORK naturally attracts the finest men and women in America, primarily, I believe, because it offers the greatest opportunity for service. And there is no happiness that can equal the soul-satisfaction that comes to an individual with the knowledge that some worth-while service has been achieved to make the world a better place in which to live. This is one of the reasons the Missouri Pacific Lines is a genuine "Service Institution."

The wonderful morale of the Missouri Pacific organization has been remarked throughout the industrial world. Many have believed there is some mystery in it. Others suspect it is the result of lucky accident. But it is worthy of note and comment. Because railroads generally and the Missouri Pacific particularly have drawn into their ranks the best of the citizenship and because once engaged in it few ever leave railroad work. As a result there has been built up over a long period of years a great industrial family.

Missouri Pacific men and women are good citizens as well as good railroaders. They are valuable assets to every community in which they work and live. And their abilities are not limited to the field of transportation. Among other things, the employees of the Missouri Pacific, themselves, own and operate a hospital system that comes within the classification of "Big Business."

This "business" with revenues of $745,901.47 in 1929 and operating expenses of $661,049.65 and with buildings and other assets valued at $1,003,582.11 cared for 8,911 patients last year, with an average of 140 patients a day and an average of 12 days hospitalization per patient or a total of 50,962 hospital days. The entire institution is owned, governed and operated by the employees and their representatives and this is only one of many reasons for the magnificent morale and esprit de corps of the Missouri Pacific family of 60,000 workers.

The management of the property maintains a liberal pension system for employees incapacitated through illness, injury or age and this, also, is another reason for the wonderful family feeling of loyalty that makes the Missouri Pacific organization an outstanding one.

Both the management and the Missouri Pacific family have complete realization of their duties and responsibilities as citizens and human beings as well as railroaders and both are striving to live up to the highest ideals and traditions of our country as well as those of our railroad. These are only a few of the reasons the public gets "super service" from the Missouri Pacific, "A Service Institution."

I solicit your co-operation and assistance.

POINCARÉ ASSAILS 'BLIND ECONOMY' OF U. S. TARIFF

Ex-President of France, in a Dinner Address, Declares "There Is Crisis in Friendship."

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, July 2.—Citizens of 22 countries in North and South America gathered with Frenchmen to celebrate the France-American Committee's "Week of American Nations" last night, heard Raymond Poincaré, former President and former Premier, take the United States to task for its new tariff law.

Poincaré, presiding at a dinner to national delegates, characterized recent United States economic policies as "these unhappy incidents of recent years." He attacked "above all those of the last two or three months, which come as a result of blind economy and selfish nationalism."

"There is a crisis in the friendship of the two nations, which if not remedied promptly, will grow worse. Countries that try to antagonize other peoples will find that they are attached to those other peoples by bonds they cannot break," he said.

Philippe Roy, Canadian Minister at Paris, referred to "at least three attempts on the part of the United States to seduce Canada, which failed because Canada is bound to remain faithful to Great Britain." He said the attempts occurred in 1775, at the time of the American Revolution, and in 1812, at the time of the second war with England.

U. S. Delegates Surprised.
United States delegates at the dinner were all private citizens. One or two voiced surprise that a man of Poincaré's position should have chosen such an occasion to lecture the United States. Some of the South Americans seemed to enjoy the way their northern neighbor was being hauled over the coals.

Pierre Etienne Flandin, French Minister of Commerce told the Associated Press that France relied upon the American sense of fairness for an equitable adjustment of tariffs. France, he said, has complete confidence in the "sense and equity of justice in the United States" in connection with tariff as in all other international questions.

"That is why," he declared, "France is looking forward serenely with the calm expectation that the American Tariff Commission under the flexibility clause of the new tariff bill will take into account the outstanding fact that cost of production in France on goods exported to the United States has increased considerably since the war."

France Getting Statistics.
Flandin said that the French Government had requested all French commercial undertakings exporting to America to report to him by July 14 concerning the effect of the tariff upon them. When he has digested these reports, he said, he proposes in case the justification is evident, to have a note sent through the French foreign office to the United States outlining France's position on particular products.

While denying that there was at the time any threat of reprisals, he explained that France was at liberty at any time to terminate the arrangements by which the United States received preferential treatment at French ports, and would instead have maximum tariffs placed on America imports. The preferential treatment, he said, was based not on a treaty agreement but on an exchange of letters between the two governments.

"Emotion" Caused by Tariff.
The tariff occupied also yesterday's session of the National Committee of Councilors of Commerce composed of French business men appointed by the Government to consult regarding foreign trade. These councilors took up a position against the new American tariff when their special Committee on Customs Duties made its report and the National Committee decided to draw the attention of the Government to the "emotion" that the increases in the customs duties by the United States caused among the councilors and in commercial circles.

Banker's Suicide.
NEVADA, Mo., July 2.—In a dispatch Friday referring to the suicide of T. E. Coffman, cashier of the Bank of Deerfield, the Associated Press related Coffman had remained at the bank most of the night prior to the shooting. Mrs. Coffman yesterday said this was inaccurate; that her husband had been at home all night, although unable to sleep on account of a severe cough. He arose at the usual time, milked a cow, went to the bank and then returned home, she said.

BYRD GETS "SOUTH POLE" OF INDEPENDENCE HALL WOOD
PHILADELPHIA, July 2.—Lightning, thunder and rain, the fire department, cheering crowds and showers of paper greeted Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his exploring companions yesterday in the official greeting extended by the city of Philadelphia. In the midst of a paper shower, awnings on a tall building caught fire and some of the confetti that had lodged on them went up in flames. Those accompanying Admiral Byrd were Bernt Balchen, Lieut. Harold June, Capt. Ashley C. McKinley, Capt. Gustave Brown, Capt. Alton Parker and Paul Siple, the Boy Scout.

At the Poor Richard Club Admiral Byrd looked at the "eternal light" on the bust of Benjamin Franklin which was turned on by the Admiral last January through radio while he was at Little America. A "south pole" made from wood taken from Independence Hall, two silver polar bears and the Poor Richard Club medal were given to the Admiral.

The explorer and his companions were then rushed to the parade to

Three Famous Clicquot Ginger Ales Make the flavor test described below

TODAY, in America, there are three distinct types of ginger ale flavor, and Clicquot Club makes all three. There is Golden, widely acclaimed for its energy-building qualities; Pale Dry, known to millions for its fine mellow flavor; and Sec, the dry ginger ale of "vintage" excellence.

Many people have never known more than one ginger ale flavor. Perhaps there is one of these flavors that you have not tried. A flavor that will delight you more than any you have ever known before.

Make the taste test

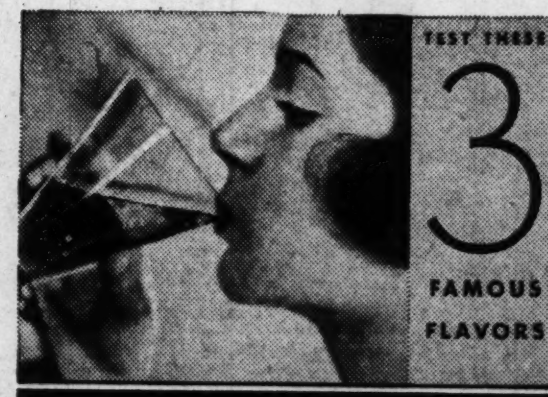

Because so many people do not know these three distinctive flavors, we have urged them to make the simple taste test described below.

Just go to your dealer and get a bottle of Clicquot Club Pale Dry, a bottle of Clicquot Golden, and a bottle of Sec. Take them home with you and chill them. Pour out a glassful of each and taste them carefully one by one. Let your taste decide which flavor you like best.

One of these ginger ales will surely appeal to you more than the other two. Perhaps it will be one that you have never tried before. But, whatever the result, you will be sure to discover in one of these three a flavor that will completely delight you.

Pour out one glassful each of Clicquot Golden, Clicquot Sec, and Clicquot Pale Dry. Taste them one by one and let your taste decide which of these famous ginger ales suits you best

These three ginger ales are blended to three different formulas, and the secret of these formulas is known only to Clicquot Club. And as an additional aid to finer flavor, all three ginger ales are aged six months in the making. This process, too, is Clicquot's secret.

Purity guaranteed

In making Clicquot Club ginger ales, only the finest ingredients are used. Pure table sugar, fine Jamaica ginger root, syrups of real fruit flavors and water from deep rock springs. Clicquot gives you purity and goodness that are unequalled. And these ginger ales all come to you only in clean new bottles—bottles never used before.

At your dealer's

Clicquot Club Ginger Ales are on sale at your dealer's today. Buy a bottle of all three and make the test we have described. Your taste will tell you that no finer ginger ales were ever made.

THE NEW TEXACO MOTOR OIL LONGER-LASTING, "CRACK-PROOF"

THE Texas Company again demonstrates its leadership in the petroleum field with the introduction of a vastly superior, new product—a motor oil that lasts longer—that is crack-proof—a motor oil that meets exactly every requirement of the high speed automobile engine of today! This new oil revolutionizes lubrication values as completely as the new and better Texaco Gasoline, the original "dry" gas, revolutionized motor fuels in the Spring of 1926.

An Oil Without Precedent

There have been oils that gave remarkable mileage. There have been oils that flowed freely at zero. There have been oils that kept your engine completely free of wax and carbon troubles. But—never until now have all these advantages been combined in any one single lubricant. That motor oil is ready for you today. It is the new Texaco—longer-lasting and crack-proof. Road tests—laboratory tests have proved it.

Available in all our 48 States

Fill your crankcase with this new crack-proof motor oil today. It will more than pay you, not only in greater value for your lubrication dollar but for your car dollar as well. It is manufactured in five grades: C, D, E, F, and G, corresponding in body to Society of Automotive Engineers (S.A.E.) viscosity ratings. 30¢ a quart everywhere (35¢ for grade G).

THE TEXAS COMPANY
Refiners of complete line of Texaco Petroleum Products including Gasoline, Motor Oil, Industrial Lubricants, Railroad and Marine Lubricants, Farm Lubricants, Road Asphalts and Asphalt Roofing.

BOXER HIT LOW MUSCLE FIGHT ON OR BE COUNTED OUT, IN NEW YORK

FOUL IS BANNED BY NEW CLAUSE IN CONTRACT OF EVERY FIGHTER

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 2.—The New York State Athletic Commission, that body which governs professional boxing in New York, has issued a new clause in its contract with every fighter, forbidding the use of the fists to strike the opponent in the groin.

If a fighter be struck low he shall be counted the winner of that particular round; but if he can't get up he'll be counted out and the other fellow declared the winner by a knockout.

This ruling came as the result of a petition by Al Singer, who has fought with Sammy Mandell for the world in the Yankee Stadium July 17, for not to be allowed to end a fight by a knockout. After listening to Singer, who made a plea to be allowed to wear a protective device of his own selection, the Boxing Commissioners, James A. Farley, chairman; William Muldoon and Brigadier-General John J. Phelan, wrote the following clause into the contracts for the lightweight championship battle:

"The parties of the first and second parts agree to equip themselves with an abdominal guard of their own selection, the type to be approved by the commission, which will obviate the necessity of any foul claim being made during the contest. It is expressly understood that this contest is not to terminate by a foul as the protector selected by the boxers in their own opinion sufficient protection to withstand any so-called low or illegal blow which might temporarily incapacitate either or both parties." Figuring then, that what was good enough to govern in the Singer-Mandell fight would be good enough for the rest of the professional fighters, the Boxing Commissioners decided to make the same ruling apply in all fights, and hereafter that clause will be written into all the articles of agreement for fights to be held in this state.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—The new "no foul" ruling for boxing contests adopted by the New York State Athletic Commission has the hearty approval of Charles F. Traugott, San Francisco member of the California State Athletic Commission. Traugott said he would watch with interest the effort of the ruling with a view towards its possible adoption in this state.

"The action of the New York Commission appears to be a step in the right direction," Traugott said. "In the old days fouls were a scarcity and there is no reason for this sudden upcropping of them."

DRY CREEK AND PLAYGOER II TO RUN IN SPECIAL

Dry Creek, winner of the Sixth Madison Derby, chalked up his third successive victory for the Scheben Kennel and captured his second trophy within a week when he pranced home two lengths ahead of Player II in the Mayfair-Lenox Cup race, a futurity sprint, which featured last night's greyhound racing at the Madison Kennel Club. Fearless Dave finished third in a blue-ribbon field. Playgoer II met serious interference at the first turn but came up from fifth place on the back stretch to cut down the pace-maker's big early lead. Dry Creek returned $5.20.
He covered the distance in 0:38.4-5.
Announcement was made today by the Madison management that Dry Creek, Player II and Fearless Duke will be pitted together again tomorrow night in a special match race over the futurity route with Just Andrew, the Australian quarter champion, and Solace, the creek brindle racer that has twice defeated Player II, completing a field of five contenders. The race will mark Just Andrew's first start against Madison's foremost speedsters.

Feature attractions on tonight's Madison program bring out evenly matched fields of distance runners in two engagements at five six-teenths, and Golden Sheen, Joe Parton, and Jerry, winners of their last starts, being grouped with Scarlet Seal, Bobby J. Moving Irishman and Such-A-Toff in the fifth, while Island Belle, Tommy Scott, Bryn Brigard, Some Play and Bachelor's Excuse are entered in the sixth.

In the premier futurity offering, tenth on the card, Sizar and The Son of John, both victors in their last encounters, match strides with the fast-breaking Spalding Brutus, Paddock Judge and Nantamen in a field which also embraces three speedy finishers in Dry Land, More Pie and Huntress.

JOLLY IRISHMAN EQUALS RECORD IN MATCH RACE

Trail Blazer, Copper Head, Red Royal and Fritz Fay, which ran a close futurity Monday night, step out for another futurity scrimmage in tonight's feature at the Kings-highway Kennel Club. The four go to the post in the ninth number, with Electric Worker, Garry's Boy, Catch Weight and Up Cork.
Copper Head, fastest sprinter at the track, proved his ability to go the longer futurity route by finishing second to Trail Blazer, recognized as one of the speediest routers in the country. Red Royal, last night's victor, won once in his last three starts, and runs better on a muddy track, and Fritz Fay is one of the fastest breakers at the establishment.

Roaming Town, Rapscallion and Dark Warrior, which finished one, two and three in Monday night's thrilling five-sixteenths, which long distance Roaming Town traveled in the near-record time of :32.3-5, are booked for another jaunt over the long path in the eighth, with Geindhelm, credited with three victories in succession over that distance, another entry.

Another fast distance engagement should be provided in the fifth race, when Tawney Lad, Titto, Charlie Meadows, The Singing Fool, Jimmie Rodgers, Dude Wrinkle, Medicine Man and Last Flint go to the post.

Two recent long shots, Malt's Honor, which paid $30.40 Monday night, and Acropolis, which yielded $32 when he won a five-sixteenths in :32.4-6 Friday night, are scheduled for a sprint in the sixth; and Speedy Dick, twice victor in four races, engages a fast field in a futurity debate carded third on the bill.

Jolly Irishman won the special four-dog match race last night, covering the five-sixteenths route in :32.1-5, equalling the track record set by Gog-A-Man Saturday night.
Mike Murray was second, Irish Grey third and Gog-A-Man fourth.
The evening's biggest price, $35.20, was yielded by Dick Hopewell in the seventh race.

Knot-Charles Fight Arranged

Two fighters who broke into the limelight on last Monday night's ring card, Dave Knot, promising St. Louis heavyweight, and Tim Charles, a game battler from Louisville, Ky., are the scrappers Eddie Felix, matchmaker for the Walter Hatzfeld Post of the American Legion, is seeking for the feature bout at next Wednesday night's professional boxing program at the Battery A open-air arena.

Knot scored his third straight knockout by stopping Joe Brian, robust Indianapolis, Ind., mauler, in the second round. His other two easy victims were Jack Carney of Milwaukee and Pat Fay of St. Paul.
Charles proved he could receive punishment as well as administer it in his battle with John Schwake of St. Louis County. He was dropped to the mat for short counts six times, but he stayed the full distance. He was cheered loudly as he departed from the ring.

Schwake, because of his strong showing, also will be used in one of the 10-round matches on the coming bill, according to Felix.

ILLINOIS BOXING BODY REFUSES TO SANCTION
CARNERA EXHIBITION
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 2.—The Illinois State Athletic Commission yesterday refused to sanction an exhibition match featuring Primo Carnera, which promoter Mique Malloy had been planning.

The refusal was made because of the suspension of the big Italian heavyweight by the National Boxing Association, of which the Illinois Commission is a member.

DES MOINES NET MEET ENTERS THIRD ROUND

OMAHA, Neb., July 2.—The defeat of Gregg McBride of Lincoln, Neb., a favorite, at the hands of Louis Beckerman of Des Moines, featured the second day's play in the Mid-West tennis tournament yesterday. Beckerman won in three hard-fought sets, 6-0, 3-6, 6-3.

Other favorites came through to gain the third round. These included William Flynn of Kansas City, David Davis and John Tatam of Omaha. By his victory Louis Beckerman established himself as a strong contender.

Play was started in the men's doubles, women's singles and junior singles with all favorites winning.
Mae Cuservo of Wichita, Kan., and Marian McLaren of Lincoln, Neb., are favorites for the women's title.

Mastro Defeats Bud Taylor in 10-Round Bout

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., July 2.—Earl Mastro, Chicago featherweight, won a referee's decision over Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind., in a 10-round bout at the Michigan State Fair Grounds last night. Mastro weighed 124, Taylor 125. It was a clean-cut victory.

Mastro's speedy two-fisted attack had Taylor puzzled throughout most of the rounds and the Chicago youngster was able to keep out of the way of most of Taylor's powerful swings. There were no knockdowns.

In the third round Taylor was warned by Referee Elmer (Slim) McClelland after a blow which the official thought was low.

Amateurs

The Weston Braves defeated the Red Hais 9 to 2.

Due to Riley's batting and the pitching of Charlie Ray, the Blue Ridge Rangers routed the Mobley A. C. 13 to 5.

The Mucketeers won their second consecutive game when they turned back the Mifflin 10 to 1, Sunday the winners will play the Canby A. C.

The Webster A. C. best the S. P. C. team, 10 to 0, in a game in which the pitching of Miller, the pitcher stood out. The losers had 10 men left on the base.

The Cedar Hill (Mo.) team has built up a record that other clubs in the district will find hard to equal. In defeating the Union Electric, 30 to 3, the winners brought their total of runs scored to 154 for eight games. Then won seven of the eight contests.

The McKeanes trimmed the Emmet A. C. 8 to 7. On July 4 the McKeanes oppose the Rock Springs Stars at St. Louis. For more with the McKeanes, phone Roland Eckermann, Prospect 1878.

Two pitchers are wanted by a strong team in the 18-year-old division. Write A. E. F. 5735 Highland avenue.

The Nationals will oppose the All Stars of Mexico, Mo. in a three-game series on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Orville Paul, one-armed pitcher, has been signed by the Nationals and will work in the series.

Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Confidential records of the Anti-Saloon League, seized by agents of the Senate Lobby Committee and made public today for the first time, disclose an amazing set of facts touching the conduct of the league and the activities of prominent persons interested in prohibition. The documents, taken from the league's files and inserted in the record of the Senate investigation after the disclosure of open hearings, appear in the printed record of the Senate Lobby Committee and made public today for the first time.

Among the disclosures thus made is the fact that the governing body of the league in 1921 formally adopted a proposal to establish a spy system to aid in enforcing prohibition. It was to consist of a posse of vigilantes in each county of the United States, whose members not only would detect and report violations of the prohibition law, but would exert pressure on prosecutors and judges to secure convictions.

Subsequently the late Wayne B. Wheeler complained that the plan had not been effectively carried out and that "other organizations" had undertaken the same job and obtained both the credit and the cash which "should have gone to the league." Apparently this allegation was the Ku Klux Klan.

Considered Denouncing Coolidge. The disclosure that the executive committee of the league in 1925 seriously considered denouncing President Coolidge to the country for his failure to enforce prohibition, a motion to that effect was defeated by a vote of 5 to 4. Shortly thereafter, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon made a reference to the league, through Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Barnes, defending the administration record of enforcement.

The league's executive committee finally compromised by sending President Coolidge a letter calling attention to certain charges that had been made by Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania and concluding with the stern observation that the league would nevertheless "stand to the proposition that a great republic cannot enforce its laws" and pointing out that "the real responsibility in these matters rests with the President."

In an effort to obtain the publication of league propaganda in newspapers throughout the country, the committee retained a publicity agency which boasted of its "reliable" news matter through the great press associations, and to obtain its publication in the leading newspapers of the country.

At one meeting of the Executive Committee, Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, head of the league's educational department, voiced an ominous warning that the younger generation was showing increasing signs of hostility to prohibition. He recommended that the league concentrate its influence on the state legislatures, state legislatures and text book authorities for the purpose of having prohibition propaganda introduced into the educational courses.

During the World War League made registered their anxiety over reports that American soldiers in France were being permitted to drink the native wines and urged measures to prevent it. One of the most interesting documents contained in the series of memoranda is a letter written by William Gibbs McAdoo, appealing the league to support him in his campaign for the Democratic nomination for President in 1924.

Putting Prohibition Over

WE HAVE seen the picture of prohibition as it exists today, painted by Dr. Cherrington, the publicity director of the Anti-Saloon League. He admits that the most serious disregard of law by the people exists. But, the professional dries still shout in chorus that prohibition must be enforced or the Republic will be destroyed.

This intolerant band of professional reformers would rather see the Republic fall than give up one iota of their law, yield an inch to common sense and sanity, or renounce their selfish privilege of collecting from $2,000,000 to $5,000,000 a year to spend in propaganda and politics.

What other criminal laws are there on the statute books that have to be sustained by great professional propaganda organizations, spending annually millions of dollars?

The laws against murder? Highway robbery? Burglary? Theft? Horse stealing?

No! These laws will stand as long as civilization lives because they are universally recognized as just and proper laws, for the punishment of real crimes.

Why, you ask, when the prohibition law had produced such a train of deep-seated evils, is it not repealed? How did it come that it was even enacted?

Let the record answer.

The volume of prohibition propaganda is prodigious. The ramifications of prohibition politics, and the undertone of prohibition currents are astounding.

Interlocking Dry Forces. In addition to the Anti-Saloon League with its board of directors of 150 members, its Executive Committee of 19, its 52 salaried State and territorial superintendents, and its thousand or more employees, there are 31 other organizations that make a profession of prohibition agitation. The more important among these are the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, and the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. No organization other than the Anti-Saloon League has been forced by investigators to reveal the sources and disbursements of its revenues.

These prohibition organizations constitute a maze of interlocking directorates. Everybody has the title of doctor, whether lawyer, preacher or plain propagandist. Their titles are never omitted in professional dry literature. They may be scenery to help bring in the money. The rosters of the organizations show a striking similarity of names. The leading officials of the Anti-Saloon League are interlocked with the Federal Council of Churches, the World League Against Alcoholism, the Scientific Temperance Federation, the International Congress Against Alcoholism, National Temperance Council, the World Prohibition Federation and a score of other organizations. The superintendent of the state leagues are interlocked in the board of directors of the national league.

About the only professional prohibition organization not interlocked with any of the others is the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. That, however, is so closely identified with the Anti-Saloon League as to be almost a subsidiary. The interlocking directorates of big corporations are easy to unscramble as compared with the interlocking directorates of prohibition.

ment cases. The effect on a few citizens in the court room is always helpful. It offsets the bad influence of the wets who frequent court rooms in some places.

"Hit the Klan was thus able to step in and grab both the cash and credit, is indicated by the report made by directors three years later by Wayne B. Wheeler. He stated:

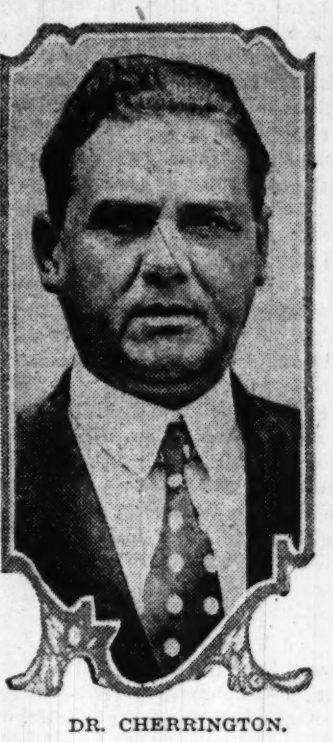

"We unanimously adopted a program at Washington in 1921, but few of the states have made even a gesture toward carrying it out. In many places other organizations have stepped in, and have attempted to do enforcement work by wrong methods, and have hurt the cause rather than helped it. However, the fact that they were trying to do enforcement work—gave them a hearing and financial support which the League should have had."

Pinchot Stirs Up League. It was at this same League meeting, held in Chicago in 1925, that Gov. Pinchot delivered a bitter attack on the Coolidge administration and on Secretary Mellon for alleged weakness in enforcing prohibition. His charges so aroused the League that a special meeting of the Executive Committee was called, at which it was proposed to issue a public "statement" of President Coolidge alleged failure to enforce the prohibition laws.

They Called It "Clever"

"A CLEVER game of deception has been practiced upon the American public. Listen to this boasting from one of the reports of Ernest H. Cherrington, lifetime associate of Mr. Wheeler:

From our publicity department has gone forth clip sheets, bulletins, printed and mimeographed newspaper stories, together with data for newspaper and journal editors, which has had a very wide reading in the American press. Large numbers of special articles on various phases of the liquor problem have been prepared and furnished to newspapers, weekly journals and magazines. Literally thousands of such articles have gone out from our publicity department and have appeared in the press without any personal earmarks and without any indication that they were the product of any department of the Anti-Saloon League."

tion of the propaganda of some of the dry organizations. Mr. Cherrington reported to the League that he had scores of articles printed in magazines, under the names of well known citizens, and that later, he put these articles in the hands of the "good" citizens.

Upon these veterans of intolerance reform, upon this Legion of Virtue—by—Compulsion, upon all these soldiers of the propaganda, who endured the hardships of warfare 3000 miles behind the lines, the Anti-Saloon League has conferred its official order of merit.

From our publicity department has gone forth clip sheets, bulletins, printed and mimeographed newspaper stories, together with data for newspaper and journal editors, which has had a very wide reading in the American press. Large numbers of special articles on various phases of the liquor problem have been prepared and furnished to newspapers, weekly journals and magazines. "The Executive Committee of the Anti-Saloon League of America addresses the following communication to the people of the United States:

"There have been presented to the Anti-Saloon League at its biennial convention reports of delegates from various states, and utterances from the platform, which clearly indicate misfeasance or malfeasance in the executive branch of the Federal Government. These reports and utterances include

CHANGE IN PRISON
INDUSTRY PENDING
CAULFIELD FINDSHawes-Cooper Law to Revolutionize System, Ultimately May Prove Benefit, He Says.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 2.—Gov. Henry S. Caulfield of Missouri, addressing the twenty-second annual Governors' Conference here today, predicted that the Hawes-Cooper law, enacted by Congress and restricting interstate sale of convict-made goods, would require a complete readjustment of prison industrial systems in most states. He said the cost to the states would be heavy, but he deemed it possible that ultimate benefit might result.

The Hawes-Cooper law, as outlined by Gov. Caulfield, provides that on and after Jan. 19, 1934, "all goods, wares and merchandise manufactured, produced or mined, wholly or in part, by convicts or prisoners, . . . or in any penal or reformatory institutions, . . . transported into any state . . . and remaining therein for use, consumption, sale or storage, shall upon arrival and delivery in such state . . . be subject to the operation and effect of the laws of such state . . . to the same extent and in the same manner as though such goods, wares and merchandise had been manufactured, produced, or mined in such state . . . and shall not be exempt therefrom by reason of being introduced in the original package."

The result of the law will be that convict-made goods from one state cannot be sold in another state, if the other state has a law against the sale of such goods made within its own borders. Missouri prison-made garments, for example, cannot be sold in Iowa if Iowa law does not permit the sale of similar Iowa prison-made goods.

Outlines Convict Systems. Gov. Caulfield expressed the view that the law, modeled in part upon the Wilson act relating to interstate liquor shipments, would be held constitutional. He outlined the different system of convict labor in vogue in the various states. These are "the contract system, whereby the convicts are hired out on a per diem basis to private contractors; the public account system, whereby the State itself conducts its own industries, employing its convicts therein, and sells its products in the open market, or to private manufacturers or dealers; the public works system, whereby the State uses its prisoners in building roads and other public works; and the State-use system, under which the State uses its convict labor in production solely to supply the needs of the State, and of its various political subdivisions."

"In Missouri," he said, "the contract system is abolished, and in the main we follow the public account system. To some extent, we follow the State-use system, although this is in its infancy."

"There are some 4050 inmates in the Missouri penitentiary. Of these, some 2400 are employed in the twine plant, shoe factory, broom factory, furniture factory, the textile industries, farms, quarries and other outside revenue-producing activities. About 1000 are engaged in activities necessary to the operation of the prison, and about 700 are incapacitated for service through mental or physical disability or incorrigibility."

Quotes Burnett on Plan. The Governor quoted from a report of the Commissioner of Industries of the Missouri Penitentiary, John I. Burnett, who declared the Hawes-Cooper law a "death blow to the industries now maintained in the penitentiary."

OSSERVATORE ROMANO DENIES REPORTS OF
THE POPE'S ILLNESS

VATICAN CITY, July 2.—OR the first time since it became generally known that the health of Pope Pius XI leaves something to be desired, the Osservatore Romano, which publishes official Vatican statements, commented on the subject last night.

The paper carried a conspicuous front page announcement, headed, "We Deny." It textually quoted a Roman journalist's report that a French specialist named Morion, on examination of the Pontiff, had found a small internal tumor. Osservatore Romano said:

"We are authorized to declare in the most emphatic way that there is nothing, absolutely nothing, true or even nearly true in these so-called details. We declare this, although everybody has been able to see during the past few days that the Holy Father neither had regard for, nor limited, the daily fatigues of the ministry, as the journal pretends. Nobody need worry about the alleged dangerous disobedience of medical prescriptions because such never existed."

OPPONENT OF STALIN RECAPS ACCUSATIONS FOR SECOND TIME

Nikolai Uglanov, Commissar of Labor, Makes Humble Withdrawal of Charges.

MOSCOW, July 2.—Nikolai Uglanov, the Commissar of Labor, who preached against the policies of Joseph Stalin, strong man of the Soviet, today before the Congress of Stalin's majority humbly recanted his accusations and adjured for the second time his right wing views.

"I consider," pleaded the one-time power in the Communist ranks, that "one of my greatest mistakes was that in the struggle against the party line I attempted, in conversations with many party members, to represent Stalin as the person chiefly responsible for the situation created within the party."

Madame Krupekaya, Lenin's aged widow, who formerly shared certain Right Wing views, caused a stir by denouncing Rykoff, Tomski and Bukharin for their departure from the party line and their "feeble recantation."

NINE KILLED WHEN SOVIET
'KITCHEN FACTORY' BURNS

By the Associated Press. Leningrad, July 2.—Nine persons, including three firemen, perished in a fire that destroyed the Soviet Government's huge new "Kitchen Factory" here late Sunday night.

The fire was attributed to incendiaries. The factory, which also contained a nursery, a library and a clubhouse, was recently built at a cost of 2,000,000 rubles (about $1,000,000). Its formal opening had been scheduled for yesterday.

Prohibition Administrators Named. WASHINGTON, July 2.—Names of assistant prohibition administrators who will operate under the reorganized prohibition division, announced today, include District Nine, Kansas City, John B. Madden.

of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—World War Veterans' relief legislation has been thrown back into controversy. Again flouting the wishes of the President, the Senate late yesterday amended the administration's general disability pension bill by increasing the rate to the Spanish War level of payments. The vote on the amendment was 37 to 26. The Democrats present voted solidly for the higher rates and they were joined by nine Republicans—Blaine of Wisconsin, Cutting of New Mexico, Dale of Vermont, Hatfield of West Virginia, Howell of Nebraska, Johnson of California, La Follette of Wisconsin, Norris of Nebraska, Robinson of Indiana, and by the one Farmer-Labor member, Shipstead of Minnesota.

The bill as amended was then put through by a vote of 56 to 11. Voting against it on final passage were one Progressive Republican, Borah of Idaho, and ten regular Republicans—Bingham of Connecticut, Fess of Ohio, Goldborough of Maryland, Hastings of Delaware, Hebert of Rhode Island, Metcalf of Rhode Island, Moses of New Hampshire, Sullivan of Wyoming, Vandenberg of Michigan and Walcott of Connecticut.

Roll Call Insisted On. Abetted by a ruling of Vice President Curtis, an effort was made to have the bill passed without a roll call vote. This was thwarted by Borah, Norris and others.

Norris declared that the action of the chair in not allowing sufficient time for a show of hands in favor of a roll call vote was an arbitrary and high-handed proceeding. Borah referred scathingly to an "organized effort" to prevent a yeas and nays vote.

The bill now goes to conference between the two houses for the settlement of disputed points.

Chief of these is the amount of the disability payments. The bill as passed by the House calls for a scale ranging from $12 a month for 25 per cent disability to $40 a Reed at Houston.

In a recent article in the New York Herald Tribune, Mark Sullivan, in writing of a man by the name of Reed at the Houston Democratic convention, said this:

There, in the plain presence of the thousand delegates who compose the backbone of the Democratic party in every county in the country, and literally under the eyes of every Democrat of any importance in the United States, Reed, both publicly and privately, began negotiations with the dregs. As late as 48 hours preceding the naming of the candidate, Reed was holding conferences in closed hotel rooms with leaders and spokesmen of the Anti-Saloon League. That finished Reed as a Presidential possibility with both dregs and wets.

I drop you this note in search of a bit of information. Is this the same Reed that is filling the newspapers with diatribes against the Anti-Saloon League and the "dregs"? C. H. MARTIN, East St. Louis.

Re: Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

REPLYING to letter of June 29, entitled, "Mr. Morrow for President," I should like to ask why we have had three Republican Presidents in the last 10 years? Ten years of silence and incapacity. Is that not sufficient proof that the principles of the Republican party are unsafe and unsound? A trust-dictated tariff, Farm Board, prohibition, besides depression and unemployment. Why choose another of the same party? He would only do like his predecessors. What we need in this country on election day is common sense. Put in the White House an honest Democrat in 1932, and by the year 2032 only by the finding of some plan will the voters know that ever a Republican President lived in the White House.

Questions Census Figures.

Re: Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

An article carrying a Centralia, Ill., date line and credited to the Associated Press caught the attention of the writer and elicited many laughs on the part of others who are as familiar with the subject as the undersigned. It pretended to be census figures recently compiled of Jefferson County, Ill., of which I am now and have been a resident for the past 24 years.

According to these figures, this county had only 30 unemployed workers at the time the census was compiled in April of this year. That these figures are released as part of the administration's argument that this country is prosperous is admitted by all. But the bravery of the census taker is too much to pass without recognition.

When a debating student at school years ago, the writer was told lies are classified into three divisions, viz., white lies, black lies and plain statistics. A definition of census figures locates the status of the unemployment data.

Repeat the census taking and the whole problem of unemployment is solved, in spite of the hundreds of families in this county living upon gratuities of others who can ill afford it.

In Defense of Small Golf Courses.

Re: Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

WHAT are the objections to the miniature golf courses? So far as I have been able to learn I have found just one objection. They keep the neighbors awake. Now let us look at the other side of the question. I have passed many of these lots before these miniature golf courses have been installed and have seen the weeds up to one's shoulders. Now, these same lots are beautifully landscaped, and look very cheery with their lawn chairs and sun umbrellas to set them off. This golfing on a small scale is a healthy, clean-out, inexpensive form of recreation not only for the older folks but for the teen-agers. Many a group of young-folks that I know of are now spending their evenings on these golf courses instead of at a club house on the river or riding through the parks, etc.

I do not object to closing these courses at 12 o'clock. Neither do I think one should object to the $40 fee for operating the courses, but I do think much objection should be raised to the piece of legislation passed by the Board of Aldermen in Richmond Heights. I think it is both ridiculous and a form of highway robbery to levy a tax of $100 a week for a course, and most of all to close them at 10:30. MISS MOFFAT.

MR. HOOVER AND PUBLIC WORKS.

Current periods of business depression, we are coming to see, need not be passively accepted as an inescapable plague, but may be, in a measure, averted by deliberate economic planning on a national scale.

Federal, state and local governments themselves possess a powerful weapon which they might use to incur a greater degree of business stability. The Committee on Economic Changes of the President's conference on unemployment points out that public expenditures on permanent improvements each year represent from 35 to 40 per cent of the total volume of expenditure for all public and private construction. About $3,500,000,000 is expended annually and about 900,000 men are directly employed on public works. In the past, however, public building activity has followed the course of the business cycle. In good times money has been borrowed, taxes have been increased and ambitious construction projects have been undertaken. In bad times, on the contrary, taxes have been cut and the program of public works has been restricted.

Now, however, the realization is growing that business stability demands a policy which is exactly the opposite. At the height of prosperity, labor and capital should be released by the state to private employment, in order that the over-expansion of industrial activity may not be carried to too great lengths. At the approach of depression, however, public construction should be expanded and increasing numbers of men should be employed on public works. Such employment would increase the purchasing power in the hands of labor, stimulate the demands for the products of private industry, and effectively prevent the depths of depression which might otherwise ensue.

Any such program, to be sure, would require the conscious co-operation of Federal, state and local governments and deliberate, advanced long-range planning of public works in order that their use as a balance wheel for industry might be properly timed. We scarcely dare admit that such foresight surpasses the capacity of political administration. The Committee on Economic Changes, indeed, shows that public construction has been increased rather than reduced. During the present depression contracts awarded for public works and public utilities during the first four months of 1930 showed an increase of 30 per cent over the corresponding period of 1929. The Department of Commerce also reports that the total expended for public works during the past six months has amounted to $1,700,000,000, a figure which exceeds that for the first six months of 1929 by as much as $200,000,000.

The use of public works as a stabilizing influence has long been a major interest of President Hoover. As Secretary of Commerce he sat as chairman of the Committee on Economic Changes which has just issued an excellent report on the subject. Before his inauguration he sent a plea for the plan to the Conference of Governors through Gov. Brewster of Maine. In his Washington conferences following the stock market crash he urged the continuation and extension of public construction. He has told the Conference of Governors now meeting at Salt Lake City that the plan is necessary "to maintain security of employment, to maintain consumption of goods, to thus contribute to economic stability and above all to relieve hardship." He says that it "adds to the security of the home in this time of stress" and that it "adds courage and hope in time of adversity."

Unfortunately, he has not turned his hand over to get the Wagner bills for relief of unemployment past the partisan obstructionist tactics of the administration-controlled House of Representatives. Nevertheless, the pressure upon the Longworth-Tolson-Snell combine has become so great that the House yesterday passed two of the bills and sent the third back to the Senate for compromise. Mr. Hoover could have greatly increased public confidence in his desire to do something for unemployment had he given more than lip service to these bills. If they are to be passed before Congress adjourns thanks will not be due to him but to the force of public opinion.

AN OLD-FASHIONED FIGHTER.

John Schwake, yclept the Webster Groves Thunderbolt, now understands how Hercules felt when he tackled Hydra, the fabled monster on whom two heads grew whenever Hercules hewed off one. Tim Charles, a Louisville fighter unknown to fame, outweighed by 22 pounds, was still exchanging blows with John at the end of the tenth round of their Monday evening fight although the plodding Teuton had floored him six times. Twice Tim was saved by the bell from what seemed to be a certain knockout. Four times, to John's amazement and perplexity, he rose just before the fatal 10 count to resume the battle, like a troop of light horse cavalry charging a battery of Big Berthas.

We fear Tim, with his notions of how a man should act under fire, is hopelessly old-fashioned. Nowadays the young tycoons of swat avoid being mugged up by landing or receiving a foul blow when the going gets rough, or by lounging complacently on the canvas until the referee finishes the count. They are far more concerned with the gate receipts than with that quality of which they believe discretion is the better part. So here's to Tim and the spirit of Louisville.

RECLAIMING THE CONVICT.

The convict who is released from prison faces a difficult problem of readjustment to community life. He has lost his place in society. For months he has been living an abnormal, artificial existence. Usually he has little money and few friends save his associates in crime. Even if he desires to go straight, it will be difficult for him to do so. Bernard Shaw has graphically pictured the prisoner's plight in one of the prefaces, where he writes:

He is flung out of the prison into the streets to earn his living in a labor market where nobody will employ an ex-prisoner. Betraying himself at every turn by his ignorance of the common news of the months or years he has passed without newspapers, lamed in speech, and terrified by the unaccustomed task of providing roof and lodging for himself, there is only one lucrative occupation available for him and that is crime. He seeks the only class in which he is welcome, the society of criminals, and sooner or later, according to his luck, he finds himself in prison again. The criminal, far from being deterred from crime, is forced into it, and the citizen whom his punishment was meant to protect suffers from his depredations.

According to Gov. Caulfield's recent announcement, convicts who are released from the Missouri Penitentiary in the future under the seven-twelfth rule, known as the merit system, will be subject to the same organized supervision which is required in the case of prisoners who are released on parole. Welfare organizations will be enlisted to aid them in obtaining honest employment and in re-establishing themselves in free life. The change, says the Governor, grows out of a desire to give better and more helpful protection to men and women leaving the penitentiary while they are readjusting themselves. This program is in line with the best principles of protective penology. It should yield dividends in greater security to law-abiding citizens.

DR. COOLIDGE DIAGNOSES THE CASE.

Because he is no longer the official prophet of prosperity, which was for so long his political fetish, it does not follow that Mr. Coolidge is ungrateful by the cruel fate that has befallen this party prop.

He thinks we are sorely afflicted with jaundice, too fault finding with the powers that be. Our own opinion is not that we are too fault finding, but that we did not begin finding fault soon enough. We would have been much better off had we stopped the Anti-Saloon League at the outset, instead of supinely sitting by while it set up a super-government in the United States. We would have been better off, too, had we pricked the pretty bubble that prosperity is something politics make before we carried that falacy to such extremes as it enjoyed when Mr. Coolidge was in the White House. We would also have been better off had we taken more interest in the Supreme Court before it enunciated the theory that public utilities are worth what it would cost to reproduce them and thus turned loose upon the country the greatest pack of wolves that ever ran in any land. After all, Mr. Hoover is only the victim of that make-believe which for seven years maintained Mr. Coolidge as the arbiter of our national fortunes. His is not an enviable heritage.

We dislike to debate political therapeutics with so established a diagnostician as Dr. Coolidge, but we totally disagree with him in his judgment that we need the sweet specific of faith in all those who have brought the country to its present pass. What we need is the strong and bitter tonic of disillusionment, and unless we are mistaken that is just what we are getting.

A WRONG RIGHTED.

For three years John Ulrich, a World War veteran of New Haven, Conn., has been trying to get his wife, a German girl, into the United States. When a passport visa was requested, it was found that she was an undesirable alien, having been guilty of "moral turpitude." At the age of 14, in Germany's post-war chaos, she had stolen some bread when hungry and had committed two similar trifling offenses. The German Government presented a certificate of good character, but immigration authorities were adamant. Appeals to the lower courts and the Supreme Court were fruitless. Now, after a fight of three years, Ulrich has won passage of a special act by Congress permitting his wife to enter the country. This pair, separated for three years by the technical quibbles of our immigration act, now are to be reunited.

The folly of the "moral turpitude" clause in our immigration code was never more clearly shown than in the Ulrich case. The lofty moral standards set on visitors and foreign-born wives of citizens have served in many instances to harass honest persons who had been guilty of a misstep at some time in their past history. Mr. Ulrich, a man of means, was able to fight his battle through the courts and to bring it impressively before Congress. His victory sets a precedent that may be of great service in bringing about a general revision.

SAVE THE OLD COURTHOUSE.

One thing upon which we hope the people of St. Louis and their representatives in the municipal government will have a fixed determination: that is the preservation of the old courthouse.

There are two overwhelming reasons why the old courthouse should be preserved. One is its historical interest and significance. It is the connecting link between old St. Louis—the town—and new St. Louis—the metropolis of the Mississippi Valley, destined to become in Greater St. Louis one of the largest cities in the Union. The old courthouse is more than a mere landmark; it is a historic center, around which are gathered a host of associations from the days when it was the mart of the slave trade to the present. It is celebrated in literature.

Another reason is the beauty of the building. In proportions it is an architectural gem. The dome and building are perfectly harmonious. Inside the dome are the mural paintings of Carl Wimar, invaluable from an art standpoint, which would be lost if the building were destroyed. It would be stupid folly of the worst kind, if this beautiful historic structure were destroyed. Every remaining relic of the pioneer days of America is now carefully preserved, and the razing of this exceptionally interesting and fine type of building would be regarded by the country as barbarous. It would bring St. Louis into contempt.

We do not pretend to judge the rights of the city and the Chouteau-Lucas heirs in the land and building. We are inclined to believe that the city can retain possession. Although the land was granted specifically for a courthouse, it was granted for public uses and has been used for its specific purpose. In the changes of time the usefulness of the specific purpose of such grants passes, but public use for other purposes remains. The original grantor expected the city to retain perpetual possession.

Henri Chouteau, in his letter to the Mayor, speaking for himself at least and indirectly for the heirs, says his purpose in attempting to regain title is to dedicate the building to some dignified public use, a museum, for instance. Why regain title? Why not leave the land and building in the possession of the city to be devoted to museum purposes? The building must have a custodian and be maintained in repair. The city is the proper custodian. The city can maintain it as a museum. It may be endowed for that purpose.

PROHIBITION AS A MEAL TICKET.

Now that he is no longer on the payroll, Maj. Maurice Campbell, former prohibition administrator for New York, announces himself as favoring the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. He says the dry service is rotten with politics, thus echoing his predecessor, Chester P. Mills, who, upon resigning in 1927, characterized the prohibition service as "a party spoils system." How many other insiders, one wonders, who feel the same way as Messrs. Campbell and Mills, are keeping mum because prohibition is their meal ticket?

"Taylorism" and the Unions

Trade groups, which fought speeding-up processes when first proposed, now co-operate; system designed to get most work possible out of men; output much increased, but workers benefit only slightly; plan works best in unorganized industries; mechanization of labor remains at variance with humanitarian aims of unions.

James O'Neal in the Baltimore Sun.

ONE very important effect of the economic transformation caused by mass production upon American trade unions is suggested by a recent article in the American Federationist, the monthly magazine of the American Federation of Labor. This is the attitude of the federation toward scientific management in industry. Perceivably resentful of the methods employed to sap the working vitality of the workers less than 20 years ago, the federation now accepts this robotizing tendency and is willing to co-operate with it.

Geoffrey C. Brown, consulting engineer, presents the new attitude as "The New Trade Unionism." The author assumes that high wages depend upon the volume of production. Hence the "new unionism" co-operates with the owners to get the utmost production out of the workmen. This view is quite in contrast with the long protests of the unions against the "hideous so-called Taylor system of scientific management," to quote the denunciation of the A. F. of L. convention of 1913. The new attitude is another admission of the conquest of mass production and the retreat of the old unionism.

Resentment continued to the end of the World War, when the unions became resigned to the inevitable. The federation chiefs since 1898 had fought the introduction of Taylorism. But it rapidly invaded private industry, and has had an enormous expansion in the great mass industries in which unionism is almost absent.

Within less than a decade after Taylorism had become an accepted method of intensifying labor, those who experimented with it were able to show decreasing labor cost ranging from 100 to more than 300 per cent and an increased output of similar proportions. There were no instances of proportional increase in wages. Labor income generally increased as a result of speeding up the application of bonus and premium systems, but the gulf between the moderate increase in labor income and the enormous gains of the proprietors was too evident. It was this fact as much as the terrific strain on the workmen that was responsible for the early protests against Taylorism. Moreover, by increasing the tasks of the workers a certain proportion of the labor force could be discharged and these jobless ones were a constant menace to any attempt to increase wages by striking.

The early stage of Taylorism was devoted chiefly to a study of the workman. The physiologists studied him as a work animal and the engineers studied him in terms of horsepower. The workman had a commodity, labor power, which he sold to the owners of industry, and G. F. Taylor was convinced that the purchasers did not use the commodity to full advantage. Muscular reactions and the motions of body, arms and legs were studied in order to eliminate superfluous motions and increase the output of the worker. Extra premium and piece-work systems till the maximum of output and human endurance was ascertained. A standard of efficiency was then

WORST FUN OF THE WEEK.

FOLK of today are less interested in Poe's "Raven" than in Borah's.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

WASHINGTON, July 2.

HENRY FOUNTAIN ASHURST of Arizona is one of the most skillful of words the Senate has heard in years. Few can delight the ear as does Ashurst when his voice rings out in the Senate chamber in words—new, melodious, suggestive. His voice turns them as he speaks. He seems reluctant times to let an obvious favorite escape his lips.

There is, for example, the incident of the Senate just the other day when Ashurst rose to reply to criticism on his side regarding Boulder Dam. It was Ashurst's best. For 10 minutes he held floor and the attention of all within shot. Those in the galleries leaned forward that they might hear all. The paper men pushed copy paper aside. Senator Robinson of Arkansas turned around in his chair on the floor that he might face the speaker.

ON this occasion, to indicate that he was on his feet not to heap censure on critics, his way of putting it was: "I do not now arise to chant any Jeremiads."

Referring to various parts of the speech on his Boulder Dam stand, Ashurst gleefully exclaimed: "Here... is an example which glitters like an optical eye..."

And again: "Arizona is indeed a feast—but it is a Barmedical feast where the host makes only a pretense of serving viands, and at which feast the guests are an illusion of plenty while the viands are all imaginary..."

HIS entire speech was filled with such phrases as these. Such as, "I am not now arising to heap censure on critics, his way of putting it was: 'I do not now arise to chant any Jeremiads.'"

Considering these facts, one wonders from what source Mr. Brown gets his optimism when he writes, "The principle of collective bargaining has become firmly imbedded now in the social mind of America, and ultimate unionization of American industry on an unprecedented scale is only a matter of time." The principle may be found in the "social mind of America," but it is certainly not found in the greater industries that dominate American life. These industries reveal the hierarchy of a new feudalism where military routine and the ethics of obedience are cultivated with a system of rewards and punishments intended to enforce loyalty to the plant commanders.

To assume that a Nirvana of social peace has been reached in these industrial baronies and that the barons have accepted collective bargaining is to indulge in wild utopian speculation. It is a quietism that sacrifices the future of the members of the unions by acting on an assumption that is contradicted by all the facts and trends of contemporary American industry."

PROHIBITION IN FINLAND.

From the Cleveland Press.

FINLAND, desiring an unbiased temperance conditions in its national prohibition, is forming a commission of wet and dry leaders to make a survey. In spite of the fact that the commission is not yet wholly formed and in spite of the fact that we do not often deal in matters of prophecy, we hereby make forecast of the result of Finland's prohibition. The dry leaders will find that prohibition is a great success; the wet leaders will find that prohibition is a great failure. If Finland really wants to learn whether prohibition works, it can do so by this simple test: Find out whether responsible citizens ignore the law. That's the acid of any piece of legislation.

MORE MILLER is a new writer who is likely to go far in the estimation of his countrymen, not chiefly, perhaps, because he writes with power and style, but rather because he is equipped by life experience, and is also by temperament, character, to deal with a theme that is much in fashion.

Millen was born in Memphis 23 years ago and the greater part of his boyhood and youth was on his father's plantation in Mississippi, where he indulged in a curious curiosity about the lives of Negroes that led frequently into the notorious hells and dives of New Orleans. Later he owned a large plantation in Arkansas where for four years he lived in isolation with the Negroes.

Need not be questioned that Millen knows the Southern Negro, as well as any living author, and writes of them with a sympathetic understanding that may or may not always do him credit but is always perfectly convincing. There is any fault to find with "Man" it is concerned, not with the nature of the thing he undertook to do, but with the nature of the thing he did. It is a worthy achievement, a decidedly well done.

It does seem doubtful that the South of the Southern Negroes, people can be represented to a reader's attention upon the doing of a particular thing whose sole reason for living is concerned with boozing and drinking, and who ends his career as a fatal adventure as the "sweet man" of a society woman.

Perhaps a reader here and there, in view of the fact that readers will be women, might be to an evidence of that sort of thing on other grounds than of an outmoded "Victorian" type. The objection might be raised by a company at the upon discovering that the had doped the soup with lye.

The present flair for Negroes among our "cavaliar kids and James," who set the fashion, were less obviously retro to a degenerate interest in the and concerned far more a genuinely humane regard for the lives of other human beings than to have dark skins, of us would be more favorably impressed with the fashion are.

COALITION ADMINISTRATION FOR AMERICAN ZIONISTS

Brandeis-Mack Group Has Balance of Power in Reorganization, However.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., July 2.—A factional quarrel that had existed within the Zionist Organization of America for nine years was at an end today, with the election of a coalition administration.

At a tumultuous session closing the organization's thirty-third annual convention here last night, an administrative committee of 18 members was chosen to represent both the administration that had been in power and the dissenting group headed by Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis and Federal Judge Julian W. Mack of New York. The committee will control the affairs of the organization in the future, assisted by an executive committee of 40 and a national advisory council of 150.

The Brandeis-Mack group, however, gained the balance of power. They nominated 12 of the 18 Administrative Committee members and half of the 40 members of the Executive Committee.

The reorganization was voted in the same hotel room where the Brandeis-Mack group was thrown out of power in 1921.

Dr. Stephen S. Wise of the Brandeis group was elected to the Administrative Committee.

The convention pledged $103,000 toward wiping out the deficit of $125,000.

AMERICAN PAINTINGS AT CITY ART MUSEUM

24 Canvases to Be on Display All Month—Eight Artists Represented.

Paintings of the American scene by eight well known American artists were placed on exhibition yesterday at City Art Museum in Forest Park. The collection of 24 canvases has been lent to the museum by the Rehn Art Galleries of New York. It will remain here throughout July.

The artists represented are James Chapin, John Carroll, Andrew Dasburg, Charles Burchfield, Edward Hopper, George Luks, Henry Lee McFee and Allen Tucker. McFee is a native St. Louisan, but has made his home in the East for many years. Two of Chapin's paintings ranked as the most popular in the last Carnegie International Exhibition at Pittsburgh.

McFee's contribution to the exhibit is three paintings, "Crow with Peaches," "Portrait of Clayton Harder," and "The Quarters." Chapin's pictures include a portrait of a farmer, George Marvin, and his daughter, Edith, and "Fox Hunter."

The paintings are hung in galleries adjacent to the special exhibition of modern Belgian art.

CHICAGO, July 2.—Dr. Ralph W. Webster, Coroner's chemist for 20 years and widely known authority on chemical investigation and legal medicine, died at the age of 57 after an illness of two months. He was born in Monmouth, Ill. He received three degrees from the University of Chicago, and his work abroad included studies in Vienna, Berlin, Frankfurt, Paris and London. He is the author of several books. During the World War he served as a Major in the medical corps.

DAY BY DAY IN FRANCE

By O. O. McIntyre

PARIS, July 2.

A JOURNEY to Paris for an American must include a dinner at Ciro's and a seat at the Folies Bergere. Ciro's has been refurbished and like every other decor in Paris has gone completely modernistic. Its tiny bar expands into a sizeable room with space for a dozen tables.

The elect sit in the bar but there is still the "little room" for favorites. The big room remains for the polio. The urbane Maurice and Julian continue to execute their Jack-knife bows at the entrance—the most expert pair of carpet kissers on the continent and at the same time the haughtiest. Maurice is reputed to remember every name of important Ciro patrons. He addressed me as "M'soo McGongle"—thus establishing my importance. Outside of the prices the most impressive feature of the two leading musical revues. The other is at the Casino de Paris, the latter being more popular with Parisians. The audience at the Folies, save for two mannishly dressed and monocled ladies and an American Negro in full evening dress, was little different from a New York audience.

At the Folies one may purchase flap seats without backs attached to aisle chairs at half price. Thus in case of fire the aisles are almost impassable. The occupant of such a seat next to mine smoked something that suggested being to the windward of the Chicago stock yards on a breezy day.

The performance was the usual umbilical display, very naughty but with a half dozen arresting scenes—one with a bevy of almost nude blondes slithering about in the air in sinuous swoops brought the audience to its feet at a bound. The theme song is a bold steal of "Aln't Misbehavin'."

At the intermission everybody drifts out to the bar and the huge drinking saloon where the "percentage coccotes" with arched smiles angle for drinks. Downstairs is a "Danse de Ventre" where for a few francs one may twirl with the hired and remarkably beautiful hostesses. But hold your watch!

NIGHT CLUBS in Paris offer the same deadly monotony of Broadway. Here, as back home, whatever night club you visit, you wish you had gone to another. We tried Le Perroquet and found the usually bored and listless crowd sitting about in a haze of smoke and smileless ambiguity. And they still try to sell you those flopping, long-legged dolls.

AMERICAN PAINTINGS AT CITY ART MUSEUM

24 Canvases to Be on Display All Month—Eight Artists Represented.

Paintings of the American scene by eight well known American artists were placed on exhibition yesterday at City Art Museum in Forest Park. The collection of 24 canvases has been lent to the museum by the Rehn Art Galleries of New York. It will remain here throughout July.

The artists represented are James Chapin, John Carroll, Andrew Dasburg, Charles Burchfield, Edward Hopper, George Luks, Henry Lee McFee and Allen Tucker. McFee is a native St. Louisan, but has made his home in the East for many years. Two of Chapin's paintings ranked as the most popular in the last Carnegie International Exhibition at Pittsburgh.

Chapin's pictures include a portrait of a farmer, George Marvin, and his daughter, Edith, and "Fox Hunter."

The paintings are hung in galleries adjacent to the special exhibition of modern Belgian art.

Brings added flavor to summer-time meals

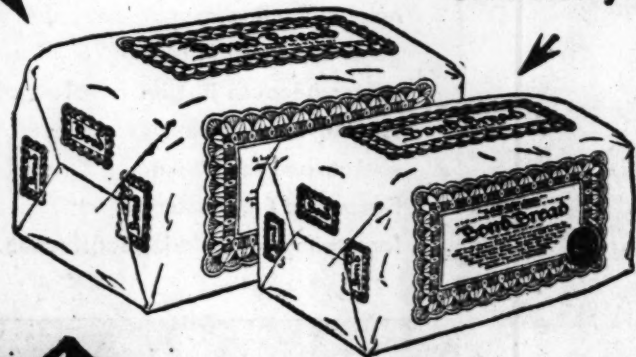

HOT, drowsy days are coming. In no season is the selection of food more important. Careful housewives will be sure, first of all, of purity and wholesomeness in everything they buy for their tables. On the other hand, they will choose foods that are freshest and most flavorful.

You are sure of both purity and flavor in the most important of daily foods when you buy Bond Bread. Each loaf comes to you with a guarantee that only the best of ingredients are used. In firm, close-knit texture and inviting, home-like flavor, Bond Bread is most like home-baked. For every purpose for which you use bread, you will find Bond Bread just so much better because of its home-like goodness. Used in whatever way you choose, Bond Bread gives an added flavor to your meal.

With each order ask your neighborhood grocer for fresh-from-the-oven Bond Bread.

CHANGE IN PRISON INDUSTRY PENDING, CAULFIELD FINDS

operated at the penitentiary, and it will no doubt effect even the operation of the farms." Burnett said the act was already affecting the manufacture and sale of merchandise in the textile industries.

Gov. Caulfield then quoted from the answers sent by several governors to his letters of inquiry. Gov. Gardner of Maine wrote that contract labor had stopped, and that employment for the prisoners was a serious problem. Gov. Trumbull of Connecticut and Warden Reed of that State reported "our major (prison) industries swept away at one stroke." Similar unfavorable reports were received from Maryland, Alabama, Kentucky, West Virginia and Florida.

"Personally," said Gov. Caulfield, "I feel like calling on Senator Hawes and Mr. Cooper for suggestions." He considered it inevitable that the various systems would enact laws excluding prison products from their markets, lest they should find their markets glutted with such products. Such laws, he pointed out, must apply to the prison-made goods of the state itself. The suggestion has been made that states may market their own prison-made goods while excluding those of other states, but Gov. Caulfield did not believe it would be possible to discriminate in this way under the provisions of the law, and under the Constitution.

Two Systems Left.

He predicted, therefore, that the result of the law would be to do away with the prison contract labor system and the public account system, and would leave the public works and state-use systems as the only available ones. He outlined advantages and disadvantages of the public works system, mentioning the objections of communities and of labor unions. Attempts to use Missouri convicts on public construction work have increased the cost of prison maintenance and caused financial loss to the state, he said.

The State-use system is more promising, he said, and most of the states are turning to it. In view of the new law, the system has been in use in New York since 1896, Gov. Roosevelt reports, and has worked satisfactorily. Pennsylvania, Ohio, North Carolina and Montana also use this plan.

"The situation, then, is not entirely hopeless," the speaker said. "In fact, it is possible that the reorganization of prison industries may be found to be a benefit to the prison administration and its prisoners, and to the State and its institutions. The State-use system will no doubt result in greater diversification, and this will give better training of the prisoners for after life." He added that each state would need to make a careful survey of its own situation, and of the possible market for prison-made products with the cities and counties. Some legislation will be needed, he said.

"We must, in effect, build our industries anew," he said. "It will require expenditure of great sums of money. New factories, new machinery, new systems, perhaps some new buildings, must be provided. Much of the investment in present equipment will be lost. And in the time it takes to make the readjustment, prison industries will be unsettled and operating at a loss."

"That is the burden Congress has saddled upon the states by the Hawes-Cooper law. Our job is to accept the load and try to turn loss into profit. I am beginning to look forward to it as an interesting experience, not without some pleasure, and, I hope, some profit to my State."

month for total disability. It was estimated that in this form it would cost about $31,500,000 in the first year, rising to $82,000,000 in the fifth year. As passed by the Senate with the Walsh-Connelly amendment, the rates begin at $10 a month for 10 per cent disability and range up to $60 for total disability.

The estimated cost of this plan the first year is $58,000,000, rising to $187,000,000 in the fifth year. Both versions of the measure establish a pension system for veterans with disabilities incurred after the end of the war the point at issue being the size of the allowances. Under present law compensation is limited to men whose disabilities are traceable to their war service.

President Hoover already has indicated that he would veto a bill carrying the Senate scale.

Also at issue between the House and the Senate is an amendment attached by the latter permitting payments to be made to veterans suffering from venereal disease contracted during war service. The Senate amendment was tacked into the bill by a vote of 36 to 27. The Senate also struck from the measure a provision limiting payments to veterans who do not pay income tax and added a provision desired by the American Legion to prevent the Comptroller-General from overruling decisions of the Veterans' Bureau.

CALIFORNIA SCHEDULED TO GET SIX MORE REPRESENTATIVES

Michigan Would Have Four Additional Congressmen on Unofficial Census Returns.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—California and Michigan, fulfilling Census Bureau predictions that they would be the greatest gainers in the 1930 enumeration, are in a position to estimate on an increased representation in the House. In reapportionment bill hearings, California was tentatively scheduled for six additional Representatives and Michigan for four.

This was on a hypothetical 1930 population of 4,794,000 for California and 4,786,000 for Michigan. Actual returns show California out-climbing the early Census Bureau estimates by a greater total than Michigan. Reporting a population of 5,642,232, a 64.4 per cent gain, California exceeded its predicted 1930 population by $48,282. Michigan, totaling 4,818,371, a 21.3 per cent increase, exceeded the estimate by 32,371.

The estimated 1930 ratio of population for Representative was 280,780.

By the Associated Press. NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 2.—Tennessee gained more than a quarter of a million in population during the last decade. Tabulation by the Associated Press of census reports from 93 of the State's 95 counties show a population of 2,573,291. Estimating that the two unreported counties, both small, have the same population as in 1920, the 1930 population of Tennessee is 2,595,433, as compared with 2,337,885 in 1920.

Forty-one of the 93 counties reported gains in population.

Whipped, Boy Kills Father. By the Associated Press. SALLISAW, Ok., July 2.—Elijah Denton, 53 years old, was shot and killed last night by his 14-year-old son and namesake after he had severely whipped the youth.

RICHER and CREAMIER

An old family recipe that grew into a Nation's mayonnaise

Once upon a time the mother of a large family made mayonnaise from a recipe of her own—a recipe that never failed! Of course, it took a lot of eggs, pure oil, the finest of spices and a long, long time to beat. But, what a mayonnaise it was—and is!

Finally so many folks heard of the delicious flavor of this mayonnaise that it was put up in jars, and sold in local stores. Visitors from other cities ate Ivanhoe and insisted on their grocers getting it for them. And so it went in villages, cities, and now in states all over the country. People know, appreciate, order and reorder this richer, creamier mayonnaise. The old recipe is still used. Nothing has been taken out—nothing been added. You can't improve on perfection! Yet Ivanhoe costs no more than ordinary mayonnaise. Order it in any one of four convenient sizes—quarts, pints, half-pints and 3 1/4 oz. jars.

U.S. AND FRANCE AGREE ON DOUBLE TAXATION

American Delegation Also Reports Satisfactory Arrangements With Britain.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 2.—The conclusion of satisfactory agreements with Great Britain and France on the double taxation problem was disclosed today at the Treasury.

E. C. Alvord, who headed the American delegation to the recent international double taxation conference, said this in denying reports that the purpose of the present European visit by Undersecretary Mills was to discuss that problem with French officials. The reports also were denied at the White House.

Details of the agreement will not be made public until the Government is ready to put them into effect, Alvord said, adding that the terms were "satisfactory so far as they relieved American business from the French double dividend tax."

The French tax system which caused much concern to American business provides that all corporations declaring dividends must withhold 16 per cent of the amount as a tax. The French corporation also pays 15 per cent on commercial profits and within the last few years the French have adopted a construction of an act passed in 1872 which imposes an additional 16 per cent on the dividends declared by French corporations which are subsidiaries of foreign corporations. This made a total of 47 per cent tax on foreign corporations on the amount of business and dividends done in France.

At the Treasury, it was said Mills had gone to Europe on a two-months' vacation and that he would be in Paris probably only one day. He intended to meet Mrs. Mills there and proceed to the Mediterranean, where he has chartered a yacht for a cruise. It has been regarded as unlikely that Mills would even meet any of the high French officials.

Mills is now aboard the Bremen on the Atlantic.

The increase of tariffs on automobiles by Italy attracted Government attention today but official quarters refrained from any comment.

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan said today "the so-called retaliation moves abroad might easily have two objectives."

"While there might be an element of retaliation in the Italian decree," he added, "nevertheless the opportunity to force American manufacturers to establish branch plants abroad in line with their policy of the last two years seems to me very alluring."

Vandenberg said both Henry Ford and General Motors have branch plants in Trieste and the increase "might easily be part of a campaign to force American manufacturers now engaged in expatriating capital to extend their operations there and benefit foreign labor."

KILLED, EITHER BY POLICE OR SELF, IN CHASE ON ROOF

Alleged Gunman Suspected at Cincinnati of Paying Stolen Diamonds

By the Associated Press.
CINCINNATI, July 2.—A man thought to be Earl Mullard, Philadelphia, Pa., an alleged gunman, was either shot to death today by detectives or killed himself while running across the roof of a small hotel in the downtown business section.

Two detectives, who had been searching several days for two men who pawned diamonds said to have been stolen, pursued the man to the top floor of the hotel. The man leaped from the roof of the main hotel to the roof of an annex. As he landed on the roof a detective fired.

The man turned a revolver toward the officers, but changed his mind about firing at them, pointed the weapon at himself and pulled the trigger.

The detectives saw Mullard seated in an automobile in front of the hotel. When he entered the hotel, they arrested him. He fought his captors, freed himself, and ran up five flights of stairs to the roof.

ARMY OFFICER STARTS TEST FLIGHT, LAREDO TO MAINE

Purpose Is to Try Out Mobility of Air Corps in Emergency.

By the Associated Press.
LAREDO, Tex., July 2.—Announced as a test of Air Corps mobility for sudden hostilities, Lieut. Yantis H. Taylor, former Texas Ranger, took off at 1:05 a. m. today on a proposed one-day flight to Portland, Me.

The young officer, an instructor at Kelly Field, San Antonio, expressed confidence that he would be successful in reaching the Army's farthest north field by nightfall. Early morning fogs, he said, would be the greatest obstacle.

The distance from Laredo to Portland over the route laid out is about 2,100 miles. Lieut. Taylor planned to fly to Muskogee, Ok., St. Louis, Dayton, O., Middletown, Conn., and Portland.

U. S. Submarine Commissioned.
By the Associated Press.
MARIE ISLAND, Cal., July 2.—The submarine V-6, launched March 15, was commissioned yesterday with ceremonies conducted by G. W. Laws, commandant of Marie Island. Commander T. J. Boyle assumed command of the vessel which soon is to be tested in San Francisco Bay.

For an enjoyable FOURTH AT PICNIC OR CAMP

When noon or evening rolls around—after you've been swimming and games are over—it's great to sit down to real food and drink. When they're just right (and they are if they're from Kroger's) they'll top the day off in great style. Here are a few suggestions.

Picnic Sandwiches
1/2 lb. Cream Cheese 1/2 can Pimentos 1/2 lb. Boiled or Minced Ham

Chop finely or grind the ham, pickles, cheese and pimentos. Butter thin slices of bread and place a lettuce leaf on one slice, then a layer of filling. Filling does not soak the bread if slices have been lightly buttered.

Pineapple Iced Tea

You know what a wonderfully refreshing drink iced tea is. Many people take it along to picnics by the gallon. Here is a variation that gives this popular drink an added "kick." Quarter slices of Country Club Pineapple and see that there are enough so that each glass gets one. Pour these into freshly made Country Club Orange Pekoe Tea. When you're ready to drink it you'll find the tea has a most unusual and delightful flavor.

GOLD STANDARD FOR SPAIN

By the Associated Press.
MADRID, July 2.—Launching an intensive financial campaign to stabilize the slipping peseta, the cabinet of Premier Damaso Berenguer last night decided that Spain will return to the gold standard. Stabilization will be achieved in three stages. The first, which began last night, concerns the unification of the budget and the balancing of revenue and expenditures on a definite basis. The second stage will provide for transitional measures, and the third and last will bring back the gold standard. The government is considered in some quarters to be marking time by postponing the adoption of the gold standard, with the purpose of obtaining a rate for the peseta as high as possible. It may wait until the Cortes, or Parliament, is convened after elections some time in November or December.

Dry Spy System Program Bared in Seized Records

charges of the appointment of incompetent, or worse, to positions of authority enforcement and of the issuance of permits for huge amounts of alcohol to those with a criminal record of violation of the prohibition laws.

Holds President Responsible.
"The Anti-Saloon League solemnly asserts the obvious truth that these facts as reported constitute an indictment of the Federal administration in respect to prohibition enforcement. The Constitution of the United States specifically places the duty of enforcing the laws upon the President of the United States. He is the only officer so charged in the Federal Constitution with responsibility for enforcement, and it is impossible for him to shift this responsibility to any Cabinet member or department official.

The Anti-Saloon League cannot do less than the Constitution does in the recognition of law enforcement responsibility and it, therefore, calls upon Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States, publicly to declare that past and present conditions, which amount to a hindrance to the cause of enforcement, do not represent the policy of his administration.

"And the Anti-Saloon League further calls upon the President to indicate his acceptance of enforcement responsibility by the institution of methods fitted to secure enforcement of the law and the triumph of the Government over the bootlegger and his affiliated outlaws."

Although the minutes of the meeting do not disclose the author of the proposal, they reveal that the following four members of the committee voted to present the "indictment" to the country: Messrs. Musgrave, Davis, Laughlin and Forgrave. The motion was lost when Messrs. Shumaker, Briggs, Carre, Tope and Bishop Nicholson voted against it.

Compromise Adopted.
Instead a compromise was adopted whereby the committee transmitted to President Coolidge a copy of Pinchot's speech accompanied by the following letter:

"Our people will not consent to the proposition that a great republic cannot enforce its laws. They will co-operate in all sincere and well-directed efforts, but they will not tolerate evasion or inefficiency. Inasmuch as the chief responsibility in these matters rests with the President, we are respectfully bringing them to your attention."

The fact that such a letter had been received at the White House was never made public during the Coolidge administration. The real reply was made secretly by Secretary Mellon through Commissioner Haynes after Mellon had personally sent a perfunctory letter to the league. Haynes' communication stated:

"I felt that your committee should have for your confidential consideration a rather detailed statement, necessarily somewhat labored and technical, replying to the specific charges made by the Governor. I informed the Secretary that I felt your committee should have these additional facts, and he has agreed, with the understanding that this letter of transmittal and the attached memorandum shall be considered personal and confidential, and for the information of your committee only. I know you will so regard it."

Secretary Mellon's confidential memorandum was not found among the league documents seized by the Lobby Committee's agents but other papers indicated that it dealt at length with the issuance of alcohol withdrawal permits.

League's Publicity Efforts.
Concerning the League's efforts to obtain favorable publicity, Wheeler reported to the executive committee in 1924 as follows:

"It is noteworthy that (news) releases issued from this office have been carried in many wet newspapers more prominently and more frequently than the bulletins issued by the Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment. We often reach 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 people in a single day with a release giving them the facts about prohibition, all at the cost of a few stamps necessary to send the facts to the newspaper representatives here in Washington."

"I know there are some who think this is being overdone. I am sure that we can make no better investment than to reach the people through the public press. Those whom we reach in this way need the information and the facts more than those who regularly get our own literature. A paragraph in the New York World or Chicago Tribune is worth more to the cause than a column in a newspaper that is editorially favorable to us."

"Handout" System.
Encouraged by results of this simple system of "handouts," which burdens the wastebasket of every newspaper bureau in the capital, the League was ready by 1926 to undertake publicity on a more elaborate scale, even to the extent of paying to have it circulated. The executive committee formally considered a proposal from the Dustman Hamilton Syndicate, of Columbus, O., which asked $30,000 a year to send out three mail stories a week to 36,000 newspapers, and one illustrated feature a month to 800 papers, supplemented with "items" to be distributed by regular press associations.

Concerning the latter, the syndicate's prospectus stated: "The syndicate is in close touch with the Associated Press, the United Press and the International News Service, and likewise is familiar with the great majority of the special correspondents throughout the country. Stories sent out via

by the syndicate attract much favorable comment."

Inquiry by the Post-Dispatch correspondent has failed to reveal one Washington correspondent who ever heard of the syndicate. Nevertheless, the minutes of subsequent meeting of the League's executive committee contains a notation that F. Scott McBride, the general superintendent, was authorized to continue "the publicity work carried on under the direction of R. J. Dustman it being understood that a continuance of the work depends on the securing of funds for that purpose."

Bishop Cannon's Worries.
Concern over reports that American soldiers in France were succumbing to temptation by indulging in wine, was expressed by Bishop James Cannon in May, 1928, and the executive committee passed a resolution insisting that the "prohibitive law, prohibiting the sale of intoxicants to soldiers and sailors in uniform, maintained for our soldiers and sailors in whatever part of the world they may be."

Dr. Cherrington manifested his alarm over the attitude of the younger generation in the course of a report to the executive committee made in 1924.

"There are many indications in many places throughout the United States that the clutch of salping, especially as regards the younger generation," he stated. "The majority of the children in the public schools today are not being taught the truth with regard to the nature and effect of alcoholic liquors in anything like as large a degree as that which characterized the last generation. Boards of education, the teaching staffs, the newer text books and state legislatures are the points at which something worth while must be done."

A Disturbing Incident.
A disturbing incident is recorded in the minutes of a meeting of the Executive Committee which was held in the Hotel Statler in Detroit in January of this year. A large commercial house held a convention of salesmen there since will co-operate in all sincere and well-directed efforts, but they will not tolerate evasion or inefficiency. Inasmuch as the chief responsibility in these matters rests with the President, we are respectfully bringing them to your attention."

The fact that such a letter had been received at the White House was never made public during the Coolidge administration. The real reply was made secretly by Secretary Mellon through Commissioner Haynes after Mellon had personally sent a perfunctory letter to the league. Haynes' communication stated:

"I felt that your committee should have for your confidential consideration a rather detailed statement, necessarily somewhat labored and technical, replying to the specific charges made by the Governor. I informed the Secretary that I felt your committee should have these additional facts, and he has agreed, with the understanding that this letter of transmittal and the attached memorandum shall be considered personal and confidential, and for the information of your committee only. I know you will so regard it."

Secretary Mellon's confidential memorandum was not found among the league documents seized by the Lobby Committee's agents but other papers indicated that it dealt at length with the issuance of alcohol withdrawal permits.

League's Publicity Efforts.
Concerning the League's efforts to obtain favorable publicity, Wheeler reported to the executive committee in 1924 as follows:

"It is noteworthy that (news) releases issued from this office have been carried in many wet newspapers more prominently and more frequently than the bulletins issued by the Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment. We often reach 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 people in a single day with a release giving them the facts about prohibition, all at the cost of a few stamps necessary to send the facts to the newspaper representatives here in Washington."

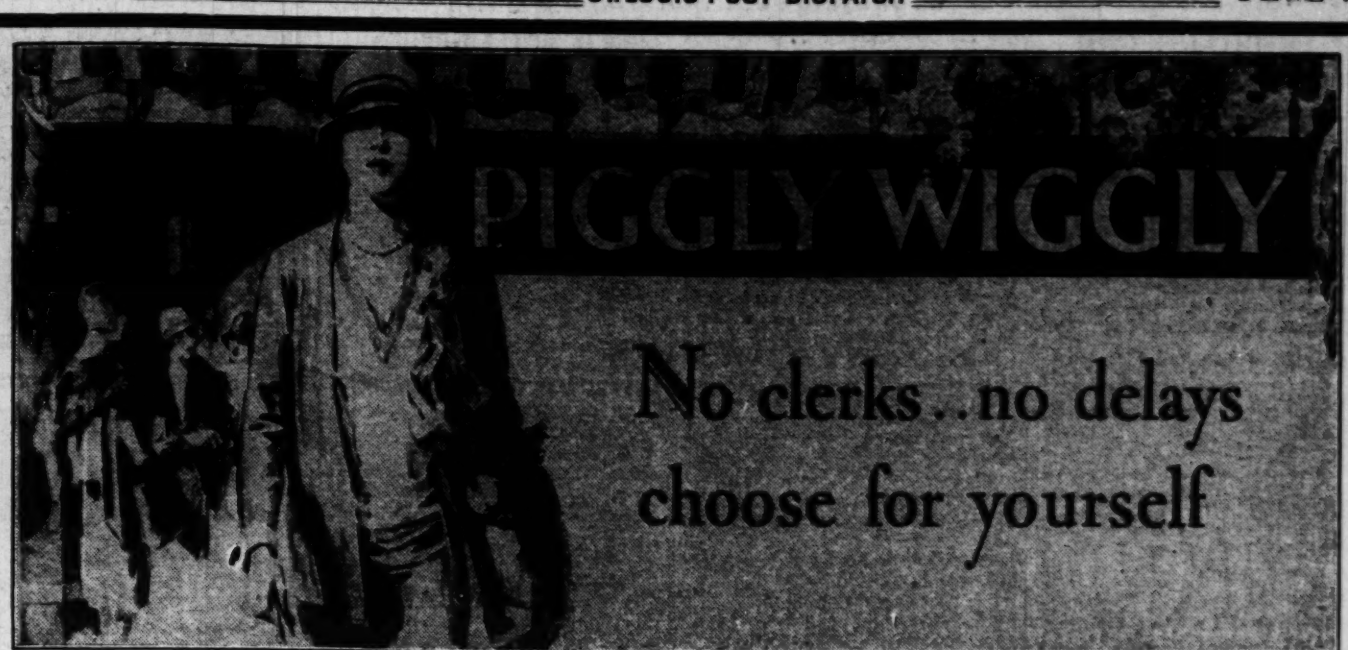

"I know there are some who think this is being overdone. I am sure that we can make no better investment than to reach the people through the public press. Those whom we reach in this way need the information and the facts more than those who regularly get our own literature. A paragraph in the New York World or Chicago Tribune is worth more to the cause than a column in a newspaper that is editorially favorable to us."

"Handout" System.
Encouraged by results of this simple system of "handouts," which burdens the wastebasket of every newspaper bureau in the capital, the League was ready by 1926 to undertake publicity on a more elaborate scale, even to the extent of paying to have it circulated. The executive committee formally considered a proposal from the Dustman Hamilton Syndicate, of Columbus, O., which asked $30,000 a year to send out three mail stories a week to 36,000 newspapers, and one illustrated feature a month to 800 papers, supplemented with "items" to be distributed by regular press associations.

Concerning the latter, the syndicate's prospectus stated: "The syndicate is in close touch with the Associated Press, the United Press and the International News Service, and likewise is familiar with the great majority of the special correspondents throughout the country. Stories sent out via

Inquiry by the Post-Dispatch correspondent has failed to reveal one Washington correspondent who ever heard of the syndicate. Nevertheless, the minutes of subsequent meeting of the League's executive committee contains a notation that F. Scott McBride, the general superintendent, was authorized to continue "the publicity work carried on under the direction of R. J. Dustman it being understood that a continuance of the work depends on the securing of funds for that purpose."

11 INDICTED FOR LAKE ERIE-FLORIDA LIQUOR RUNNING

Syndicate With Headquarters in Cleveland Said to Operate Truck Fleet and Motor Boats.

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., July 2.—An alleged liquor-running syndicate that operated an overland route from Florida and a fleet of boats across Lake Erie to distribute liquor in Middle Western cities, was disclosed with the release of secret Federal indictments naming 11 men on conspiracy charges.

Principals of the ring, Federal investigators said today, were Daniel F. Coughlin of Pittsburgh and Cleveland; James Courtney, now in Canada, and John O'Boyle of Cleveland. The organization formerly was alleged to have been headed by "Handsome Larry" Davidson, whose extensive liquor-running activities placed him in Atlanta penitentiary.

The syndicate, according to the indictments, operated a fleet of trucks from Fernandina, Fla., to McKeesport, Pa., where liquor was shipped to Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Woodlawn, Pa. Its other arm reached across Lake Erie between Canadian ports and points along the Erie (Ohio) County shore. Headquarters were in Cleveland, with Courtney directing the Canadian operations via long-distance telephone, it was charged.

Gives $7500 Bond.
Coughlin surrendered late yesterday, pleaded not guilty and was released on $7500 bond. Specifially he was charged, with transporting $922 cases of whiskey to McKeesport May 14 addressed to "E. Hubbard, care of the McKeesport Banana Distributing Co." He faced arraignment today on another charge of transporting 33 cases of champagne from Sandusky to Vermilion, O. Courtney also is under a similar charge.

Coughlin is free under $10,000 bond, pending appeal from his recent conviction on a conspiracy charge at Toledo with Davidson and is under $1000 bond on another charge at Pittsburgh.

Most of the 55 overt acts charged consist of telephone conversations between Courtney from Windsor, Kingsville and Port Leamington, Ont., and Cleveland members of the ring. O'Boyle is alleged to have assisted in carrying out Courtney's instructions.

Others Indicted.
The others indicted were Harry and Glen Fisher, charged with operating a Cleveland garage for the rum trucks; Patrick J. Burns, yardmaster of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad at the Demler yards, in Allegheny County, Pa.; John Dolan, A. Arlis and M. Doty, alleged to have transported liquor over the Fernandina-McKeesport route; Pete Bucholz, alleged to have piloted the motorboat carrying the 33 cases of champagne, and Harry Goodman, alias Harry Gordon, said to have been a liquor distributor.

The Fisher brothers surrendered and were released under $2500 bond each on their pleas of not guilty.

Shoots Self After Quarrel.
ROLLA, Mo., July 2.—Harry Perry of St. Louis, who came here to attend the funeral of Marvin Stuart, shot himself in the hand yesterday after quarreling with his wife. Perry found a revolver in the house where he was staying, ran out into the yard, and fired three shots, only one taking effect. Neighbors seized the revolver and took Perry to a hospital, where his wound was dressed. Stuart was killed in an automobile accident Sunday night.

ASSERTS HIP FLASK TOTTING IS LEGAL IF PURCHASE IS

New York Attorney Declares Customer May Have Own Liquor for Own Use.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 2.—The contention that possession of liquor in itself is not unlawful was argued before a United States Commissioner here on behalf of a customer arrested in a night club raid.

Frederic R. Couderc Sr., attorney, appearing for Raymond Ackerman, who was arrested in a restaurant last April, pointed out that the United States Supreme Court recently held that the purchase of intoxicating liquor is not unlawful and contended that the possession without the intention to sell, manufacture or transport could therefore not be unlawful.

"To tell a man that he may lawfully purchase liquor, but that once having obtained the possession of it he is committing a crime by such possession," he said, "is to turn the law into a farce."

"If it were true that the mere possession of liquor, without evidence that it was a step in the transportation, manufacture or sale, were unlawful, then the Volstead act has transcended the limits of the Constitution and is pro tanto unconstitutional."

Commissioner O'Neill ruled that other authorities had held possession of liquor to be prima facie evidence of intent to sell and held Ackerman in $500 bail for trial.

Insane Slayer Captured.
Thomas Scarbrough, 45 years old, who escaped 10 days ago from the State Insane Asylum at Elgin, Ill., was arrested today at the home of a daughter who lives near the Tower Grove railroad station. He had dyed his red hair black and penciled heavy eyelashes on his face, but readily admitted his identity. Scarbrough, tried for murder in Chicago a year ago, was found insane and committed to the asylum. While employed as a railroad special agent, he killed a freight handler during a quarrel.

The stock has not figured in sales since May.

Local Business and Financial Items

(Paragraphs for publication in this column should be addressed to the Financial Editor.)

J. D. Gowin, formerly assistant general freight agent of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, has been appointed freight traffic manager of the Missouri Pacific Transportation Co., a subsidiary concern operating motor buses in the territory served by the railroad.

Robert E. Conway has become associated with the Festus J. Wade Jr. & Co.

Howard I. Young has been elected president of the American Zinc, Lead and Smelting Co., to succeed W. A. Gage of Boston. It is planned to move the company's headquarters from Boston to St. Louis in the near future. The company has smelters in Illinois and Ohio and mines in Missouri, Oklahoma and Tennessee. Young has been with the company 22 years. In 1923 he was made vice president in charge of operations, with offices in East St. Louis.

Industrial and Financial Briefs

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 2.—Total contract awards for building and engineering construction during the first five months of this year were 18 percent smaller than in the like period last year, Standard Statistics Co. says in a current survey. The decline may be attributed practically in its entirety to the slump in the housing division, the survey says, since the declines in commercial and industrial construction are about offset by expanded activities in public works and utilities and other fields of a semipermanent nature.

A special meeting of Transcontinental Oil Co. stockholders has been called for Aug. 14 to vote on a proposal to sell the company's assets to the Ohio Oil Co. in exchange for stock. If the sale is approved, the stockholders will vote Aug. 15 on a resolution to dissolve the company.

Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co. has organized a $2,000,000 corporation for the development and application of X-ray and electro-medical apparatus. Wappler Electric Co. of Long Island City, N. Y., and American X-ray Corporation of Chicago will become identified with the new concern, to be known as Westinghouse X-ray Co., Inc.

Recent declines in the security markets are reflected in the drop in asset values of three investment trusts reporting for the first half year. Second National Investors on June 30 showed an asset value of $95.06 a share on the preferred, against $102.21 on the common. The figure for Third National Investors was $93.42 a common share, against $147.24 at the end of 1929, and for Fourth National Investors the common share asset value was $45.38, compared with $46.80 on Dec. 31.

PHILADELPHIA AND BOSTON REDISCOUNT RATES ARE CUT

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 2.—The Federal Reserve Bank announced today that the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia has established a rediscount rate of 3 1/2 percent and the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston a rediscount rate of 3 percent effective tomorrow. The Philadelphia rate was reduced from 4 percent and the Boston rate from 3 1/2 percent. The rates are effective on all classes of paper of all maturities.

Central P. S. Corporation Report

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 2.—Net earnings of the Central Public Service Corporation for the year which ended May 31 increased 9.13 percent over the preceding 12 months. Net for the period amounted to $16,459,452, as compared with $15,082,160 for the previous year. Subsidiaries of the corporation operate in 24 states and two Canadian provinces.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 2.—Total sales amounted to $3,342,000, compared with $9,367,000 yesterday, $12,150,000 last week and $13,815,000 last year. Total sales from Jan. 1 to date were $1,495,957,000, compared with $1,456,641,000 a year ago and $1,712,029,000 two years ago.

Quotations on all Liberty bonds are in dollars and thirty-seconds of a dollar. That is, for instance, a sale priced 99-24 means 99 and 24 thirty-seconds of a dollar, and not 99.24.

Following is a complete list of bonds traded in on the New York Stock Exchange today, giving sales, highest, lowest and closing prices. In sales, 000 omitted.

CURB TRADE DULL, RANGES NARROW

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 2.—In one of the dull and narrowest sessions of the month, the curb market plodded along, with prices of active securities generally higher today, although the best levels failed to hold through the close. Final prices of active securities, especially in the utilities, advanced fractionally above Tuesday's last quotations, although a few issues made larger gains.

With the three-day suspension of trading in sight, traders paid little attention to the market, which was left largely to the floor operators, who were satisfied with small profits and did some selling in the last half hour.

Electric Bond & Share crossed $100, but slipped back from the top, closing more than 1 point higher. Many of the group failed to do as well, but small net gains were in the majority. Associated Gas & Electric traded a loss of a couple of points into a nominal rise.

Gas and American Light & Traction each lost a point. Columbia Pictures and Technicolor declined.

Hardware Corporation, with a point advance, featured the industrials and specialties, most of which were extremely quiet.

American Tobacco "B" sold up 3 1/2 points, and was in hand of investors about a point. Preferred stock of the company in 1954 and the next year was advanced to be called.

Missouri-Kansas Pipe led the oils with a two-point rally. Standard of Indiana sold above 50, but yielded its small rise. Gulf advanced 1/2 net.

New General Manager of M.-K. T. By the Associated Press.

DALLAS, Tex., July 2.—From messenger boy to general manager has been Frank W. Grace's rise in Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railway in 26 years. He came to Dallas yesterday as general manager of that railroad. He succeeded H. R. McGee, who became executive vice president, with headquarters in St. Louis. Grace started to work for the company in 1934 and the next year was advanced to be called.

Gasoline Price Cut. By the Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 2.—Gasoline was retailing at 12 to 12 1/2 cents a gallon at independent service stations here today, while regular dealers charged 12 cents. The reduction represented a 1-cent cut from yesterday's price, when gasoline was the cheapest in the country in California, the quotations, including the 3-cent State tax, are 12 to 17 cents.

IRON AGE WEEKLY REVIEW. By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 2.—Measured in terms of the iron output, the first half of the year has been a record-breaking one, but it falls far short of the production of 1956. Iron was down 10 per cent from the first half of 1955, but up 14 per cent from the first half of 1954.

The current trend, influenced by seasonal factors, is now showing a decline in iron output for the first half of the year. The decline is due to a number of factors, including a decline in demand for iron and steel, and a decline in the number of new construction projects.

Several additional factors may be the cause of the decline. One factor is the decline in the number of new construction projects. Another factor is the decline in demand for iron and steel.

The decline in iron output is a cause for concern, as it may indicate a decline in the overall economy. It is important to monitor the situation closely, as a decline in iron output could have significant implications for the economy.

Anti-Evolutionist Seeks Office.

By the Associated Press.
PINEVILLE, Mo., July 2.—Sam D. McDaniel, author of the anti-evolution bill in the State Legislature of 1927, has filed again for State Representative, subject to the action of the Democratic primary. He is opposed by two other men for the nomination. McDaniel was defeated in 1928 by Dan Sayre of Noel.

"Lazy" Said the Boss "Acidity" Said the Doctor!

Charged with laziness—guilty simply of acidity! That's the situation with many men today. They realize that they are not themselves—they're conscious of a vague, tired feeling that's always with them—they know they have to pull themselves together for each and every task—but they can't tell what's the trouble. They're branded as lazy and ambitious when the real truth is that they're sick men—victims of acidity.

Acidity, due to our unnatural eating habits, irregular hours and other violation of Nature's laws, causes acid-indigestion with gas, sourness and burning. Also, it sets up fermentation and putrefaction in the intestinal tract, which forms poisons that sap our strength and vitality, irritate our nerves, spoil our sleep and make us weak, listless and chronically tired.

And now, from Germany, comes this remarkable new oxygen treatment to correct acidity in the right way. Now come Magnesia Oxidals

—the great new discovery of noted pharmaceutical chemists in Darmstadt, Germany. These small, white tablets are the only magnesia product known that produces active or nascent oxygen in the stomach, giving quick relief from gas and acting as a purifying tonic on the system. Heartburn, indigestion, etc. Then follows a gentle eliminative help—all without the use of dangerous, habit-forming drugs.

To ascertain just how much vitality and health acidity is stealing from you, make this test. Go to Walgreen's Drug Stores or any reliable drugist and get a package of Magnesia Oxidals. Take two after each meal for 5 days. Notice how much better you feel, how much more soundly you sleep, how much more energy you have because of improved digestion. If you don't get more amazing results, return the package. Your drugist will refund every penny of your money. N-34

RELIGION LOSING ITS HOLD.
—GAYS ENGLISH PREACHER

Tells Church Convention That There Is Nothing Holy in Moral Revolt.

By the Associated Press.
BOURNEMOUTH, Eng., July 2.—The Rev. J. D. Jones of Bournemouth, in his address as moderator of the International Council of Congregational Churches, said religion was losing its hold on the masses. To a large extent, he said, the very existence of God was being challenged and denied.

"It is against the Christian conception of sex morality that the attack of the moderns principally is directed. There is a moral revolt about which there is nothing shy or timid," he said.

This moral revolt, Dr. Jones asserted, is "bold, brazen and unashamed. It scoffs at old reticences and decencies. It repudiates all old conventions and taboos and allows itself freedom in speech and conduct that shocks all who have been brought up in the old traditions."

SAYS WALLING WALL IS STILL JEWS' MOST SACRED SPOT

Director of Ezazel Art Institute Asserts Authenticity Is Not Gauge of Regard.

By the Associated Press.
JERUSALEM, July 2.—Prof. Shatz, director and founder of the Ezazel Art Institute, testifying before the Walling Wall Commission today, said that the wall was still the most sacred of spots to Jews, "whether or not it be proved archeologically authentic."

The long continued lamentations which have been poured forth at the walling wall, he averred, had endeared it to all Jews just as the holy sepulchre was sacred to all Christians, regardless of whether historically it marks a certain spot.

Another witness before the commission testified that in 1895 the Jews defrayed the cost of repairing the pavement in front of the wall.

ROW OVER CAPONE DONATION
Resignations in Club Because $2500 Is Not Returned.

By the Associated Press.
MIAMI, Fla., July 2.—Because their club refused to return a donation of $2500 made by Al Capone, Chicago gangster, the president and several directors of the Miami Civic Tourist Club have resigned.

Clyde A. Epperson, the resigning president, said the donation had been solicited. The action followed more than a week of discussion among the club members. Epperson said Mr. J. C. Simpson, pastor of Riverside Baptist Church; C. J. Davis and E. L. Carpenter, directors, and H. R. Marsh, attorney for the club, also had resigned.

13 ELECTRIC FANS STOLEN FROM TWO MOVIE HOUSES

Thefts From Mogler and Bremen Theaters Are Reported to the Police.

Thirteen electric fans valued at $250 have been reported stolen from the Mogler Theater, 3926 North Ninth street, and the Bremen Theater, 1926 Bremen avenue. Police are searching for a Negro who stole $33 from the cash drawer in the hardware store of Harry Bulger, 4487 Delmar boulevard, after locking Bulger in a rear room. The Negro entered the store carrying two bottles and ordered linseed oil. When Bulger went into the rear room to get the oil, the Negro closed the door.

Burglars stole $200 and jewelry valued at $700 from a trunk at the home of Edward Willmann, 1860A North Market street.

Madison Square Garden Report.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 2.—Madison Square Garden Corporation reports net income of $411,245, or 1.26 a share, for the fiscal year ended May 31. This compares with $492,347, or $1.51 a share in the previous year.

RAIN

CHAPTER 3.

IT had actually happened. They were here at the end of nowhere on a lonely road in Cornwall. Jennet forgot to be cold and hungry.

Christopher came over to her when he had succeeded in pushing the car straight and asked if she could see a light blinking across the downs.

"We'll try that. I'll leave you then while I get some kind of conveyance to drive up into town."

Jennet resolved she would make him stay with her somehow. They walked through the drenched grass to a small stone cottage snugged down against the shoulder of a hill. As they came up to it Jennet read a sign: "Teas painted on a board."

Christopher knocked. A dark gaunt Cornish woman came to the door.

"Can we have you?" Christopher asked.

"I can give you bread and tea and clotted cream," she admitted reluctantly.

Jennet stripped off her gloves and held out her fingers to the delicious warmth of the stove. She heard Christopher inquiring if he could hire a horse to drive into the next town.

"We have no wagon," the woman said dryly.

"We'll have tea then," Christopher said gaily.

The silent woman went to prepare it for them.

Twilight deepened. Jennet sat smoking, leaning back against the wall. Mrs. Roberts came in with a lamp and set it in the middle of the table.

"We'd better be getting on, Jennet," said Christopher. "It's a long walk to St. Ives."

This was her moment.

"I want to tell you something," she came over and stood before her.

"I lied to you—about my coming."

He drew his hand through his bright hair, glinting at her half mockingly.

She flung all her appeal into her delicious voice as she leaned forward. The beautiful shape of her small dark hand, her white odd face arrested him.

"Don't look at me like that, Kit. It's the honest thing I've ever done—telling you this. I didn't come to see Aunt Julie in Paris. Aunt Julie's been dead two years. I came because—"

"You didn't take me seriously? You didn't think I meant—"

"I had to come. It was hateful at home. You wouldn't understand if I told you. . . . So I borrowed money. Now I've spent my last cent."

"What are you going to do?"

"I don't know."

"Of course I'll get your passage back."

"I can't go back!" Jennet said in a choked voice.

"Why?" he asked coolly.

"You fool!" Jennet said fiercely. "How I hate you—hate you—"

"But, Jennet, you don't know what you're doing!"

He slouched down into a chair, his hands deep into his pockets, his face worried.

"You can't mean . . . you don't know me. I'm not easy to live with. I'm moody. I'm selfish. No one satisfies me for long. You'd never be happy. Besides . . . I can't marry."

Mrs. Roberts came in to take away the dishes.

"Shall you be stopping the night?"

Christopher flung out a yes, over his shoulder. The other woman's eyes rested on Jennet with a disapproving glance.

"I'll run out and get our bags," Christopher said at the door.

"I'll go with you!"

Outside the world was sunk in darkness with a silver moon riding against the massed firs of the clouds.

He looked down at her little moon-washed face.

"Mad little Jennet!" he whispered and leaned nearer. He took her in his arms under the still and she clung to him.

"Tell me, Christopher, you haven't told me."

"What do you want to know?"

"Say it."

"I adore you."

"Promise me you won't change. You'll love me always. Swear it!"

"I swear it," he said solemnly.

It was a heavenly morning, mellow with a tang of earth and light breezes that caressed Jennet's hot cheeks. She and Christopher had chosen the cliff walk into St. Ives.

"Are you happy, darling?" Christopher asked.

"Oh—She flung out her arms.

This could not be called happiness. It was a state far above such a flat word happiness. It was exaltation, a triumph threaded through with a dreamy reality.

At the end of a week she began to flidget.

"Shall we go to London tomorrow?" she would ask him, and he would be uneasy for a while, explain that the car wasn't ready, they'd had to send away for a new part.

Conrad Nagel Hasn't Time for Parties

And So Hollywood Calls Him "High-Hat"
—He Was One of the First Picture Favorites to Perform for the Audible Screen.

By H. H. NIEMEYER (NIE).

Conrad Nagel aboard his yacht, the "Tiburon."

This is the thirtieth article in a series on the Hollywood picture stars, written by the drama and movie critic of the Post-Dispatch.

WHEN you think of the pioneering days of talking pictures the name of Conrad Nagel naturally comes to mind. For he was one of the first of the silent screen favorites to explore the mysteries of the microphone. Indeed, he was a veteran of the talkies when most other players were still taking voice tests and reading aloud nights.

"I didn't think they would last," he confessed to me when the old days (at least as far back as 1927) were recalled. "I never, in my wildest of imaginative moments, dreamed that talkies could be made as they are today."

Back in the days when Edison was experimenting with the first "jumping tin-tyes" other Conrad Nagels must have harbored similar apprehensions concerning the then infant industry. And, like the Nagel of the talkies, they lived to see astounding strides in a remarkably short space of time.

"My first talkie experience was in 'Glorious Betsy,' made in November, 1927," Nagel recalled.

"Everything we did is hopelessly antiquated now. We had to be within three feet of the primitive microphones or the wouldn't record a sound. That meant, if we were sitting, we couldn't rise or move out of place in the scene. The recording apparatus was so crude we literally had to shout at each other addressing an audience of 10,000 persons."

"BECAUSE we had to be so careful about keeping uniform distance from the 'mikes,' usually not very adroitly concealed in bunches of flowers, under tables, behind draperies or in lamps, we had to constantly peek out of the corners of our eyes to locate them while speaking our lines. The camera naturally caught this maneuvering."

"The result of all these things walked into St. Ives he told her he had to send some wires. Wouldn't she like to explore a little? She walked up the hilly streets, and stumbled almost into the entrance of the garage where they had left the car. She would ask how much longer they must wait for it.

She found the mechanic. He stared at her out of glazed blue eyes.

"Yes, madam, your car's quite all right. It's been ready for a week now."

"A week!" she echoed him.

"'e came in that same evening after we'd hauled it to town and I told 'im it was all fixed up."

"Thank you," she heard herself saying coolly.

Had Christopher kept her there—had it been a stereotyped one of those petty tricks of which she believed him incapable . . . She took a long breath. She would face him with it.

He met her at the post office saloon.

"Will you wait a minute while I ask for my mail? It won't take long."

She watched him go over to the postoffice window. She saw he did have a letter. Who in the world knew that? He was stopping at Cornwall? He had told her that he was supposed to be in Scotland now. He turned half away and tore the letter out of the envelope. His face was different now, more anxious than she had ever seen it.

"Who is it, Christopher?"

He resented the question. He tried to answer casually:

"Only a bill from London."

But she knew he was lying to her. He tore the letter in small pieces before her eyes and carelessly scattered them in the big scrap basket. He jammed on his hat, smiled brilliantly, asked if she were ready to drive back.

Jennet went with him. But in those few minutes her sense of security was utterly destroyed.

"Let's get the car, I'm tired," Jennet said.

"The car isn't ready."

"I stopped in at the garage and he told me—the car has been ready for over a week."

"Right! Caught in the act. I wanted to keep you here. Once we get back to London there'll be people around. I wanted to have you to myself for a time."

"How soon shall we go to London, Kit?" she asked next morning.

"Oh, well, we're not in any hurry."

"Aren't we going to be married—when we get to London?"

"Why, of course, later," he said, and he got up quickly to leave the room.

"Don't you want to marry me?" The words hung in the air between them. Terrible words that left her defenseless.

"I told you in the beginning I'd make you unhappy. I told you you couldn't depend on me. I'll do anything you want but—"

"—but you won't marry me."

"I don't say that, Jennet. Later perhaps when I'm free."

"Free?"

"I'm not free, you see," he laughed uneasily. "I was married about three years ago to an English girl. We didn't fit off. She—well, I won't go into that."

"But, Christopher, you can't mean it! It isn't true, is it? Tell me it isn't true!"

"It's true enough. I came over to see if she and I couldn't patch things up."

"Oh God. Oh God. Oh God."

"But what of me?" she asked terrified.

"Don't feel so, darling. No one was to give the early pictures a definitely artificial quality, stilted action and poor performances. "Frankly, I was extremely doubtful of the future of talking pictures after my early experiences. I saw no possibility of overcoming bricks and blackened chimney pots."

He knocked at Jennet's door and at last heard a faint voice telling him to come in. She lay on a couch smoking apathetically. She did not even show surprise that he should be there.

"Jennet, tell me what's happened to you?"

She shook her head. She had been lying for a week pent up in this miserable room or walking out to a tea shop near by where she ate such food as she could choke down. Gordon's sympathy unnerved her. She began to cry.

"I've only money enough to last me one day."

"Put on your things. We're going out for dinner."

"I can't eat," she whispered. "I won't go anywhere where I shall meet people."

She lifted haggard eyes and the expression in them touched him. She had always been arrogant.

At last he persuaded her to come. It had begun to rain. He offered to go back for an umbrella.

"If you do I shall go back and stay."

She led him to the restaurant near by. Gordon ordered a substantial dinner, some white wine. His cough was bothering him.

She began to talk suddenly.

"No, I won't take a taxi. You can. I'm not afraid to be alone. You want to know what's happened to me. I lived with Christopher in Cornwall," her voice was bitter.

He made a sound of pity in his throat.

She wrenched her arm away from him and blazed, "Don't dare to pity me! I'm proud of it! Proud! It's the only thing I've ever done to make me proud. It took courage. More courage than you'll ever have. But now I don't know what to do. I don't know how to go on."

FIRST AID IN IVY POISON

POISON ivy held no terrors for the people of grandmother's day. Profiting by the example of their Indian neighbors, they inculcated themselves by 'chewing the leaves.' In modern times the same results are obtained by the more scientific method of injecting an extract of the plant into the bodies of susceptible persons.

But this measure is seldom necessary for the casual hiker or visitor to the country. The ounce of precaution plus a cake of soap are usually sufficient protection against the irritating rash that is likely to result from contact with poison ivy.

Most seasoned hikers find it easy to recognize the vine or shrub by its long green stems, by the notched leaves growing in clusters of three, and by the small, greenish flowers which later ripen into greenish white, waxy berries. Poisoning, however, is not always the result of direct contact. Cases have been traced to a towel used after it had been infected by contact with a shrub, and to sap from the roots of a plant which had been cut to the ground. The sap might have oozed into a cooking utensil, a dropped handkerchief or some other article of apparel.

For the benefit of persons who fear they may have come in contact with poison ivy, the following preventive measures are recommended by a well-known skin specialist:

"Stand under a shower of warm water and wash every part of the body with a soap that lathers freely. Wash the hair to get rid of any sap which may have reached it. A tub bath will prove satisfactory if you fill the tub with water, then remove the stopper and let the water continue to run in and out at the same time so that there is a constant fresh supply. If you lack both tub and shower, a bucket of water will do.

"After the bath use rubbing alcohol to dissolve any remaining poison sap, then rinse away the alcohol with water. Remove all the clothing you wore while exposed to the poison ivy and wash or air each article."

If the apple sauce seems tasteless, add a pinch of salt, some cinnamon and a little grated lemon rind.

Summer squash is tasty sliced quite thin and fried like eggplant.

"Wait—I forgot to get EAGLE STAMPS!"

"My wife would send me right back here if I came home without Eagle Stamps. You know she uses them to get a lot of things we want, but feel that we otherwise couldn't afford. Gets them with everything she buys. It's a good policy too, for they're really the same as money. If it wasn't for the wife's economy we never would save anything."

Eagle Stamps are the discount you get on cash purchases. A full book is worth $2 in cash or $2.50 in merchandise. Get extra value for your money by always saving Eagle Stamps.

Rare English Honor to Nova Scotia Woman

JEAN IRIS HOWARD, acting agent-general in London for Nova Scotia, is one of the few women who have been guests of honor at the Royal Empire society.

Miss Howard, who succeeded to the post of agent-general on the death of her father, is the first woman to hold such a post in London.

"At first I thought there would be many difficulties in store for me," she said. "But on the contrary I have found things very easy. Men are so accustomed to being clever, that it doesn't make much difference. But when a woman does anything at all worthwhile men praise her up to the skies."

Among other duties Miss Howard tackles problems of trade between Britain and Nova Scotia, gives advice to emigrants and arranges their passages and passports, lectures on Nova Scotia, and acts as her country's representative in all matters in England.

DAILY STORY FOR CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Brown

The Fog.

THE Little Black Clock turned the time back once and he had taken John and Peggy to a little fishing village on the sea.

It was such a plain and old village and the world looked very new and strange.

As they wandered about the sea to look as though a boat were coming up and the Black Clock said:

"This is what I hoped would happen. Now we must go and the old Fog himself."

John and Peggy each took one of the Clock's hands, they walked slowly along a path the edge of the water.

"Here's Fog now," exclaimed Little Black Clock. "We'll him all about it."

The children couldn't see one at all. It was so foggy now they heard a booming, low-toned voice saying:

"You brought them along you, eh?" said the Little Black Clock. "But I don't believe can see you."

"That's because I have my coat on and my hat pulled over my eyes. But it doesn't matter whether they see me or not. We can talk just as well away."

It was rather strange talking someone they couldn't see. They had an idea they could make out the form of old Fog, heavy creature he seemed to wear an enormous coat and hat too large for him which he pulled down over his eyes.

"I'll tell you about it," began voice of Fog. "There are a little children in our town. They're not old enough to be raindrops, nor are they in enough. So we call them babies—just as in families small girls and boys are babies."

"They like to go out and and they're brave and not of anything. But while we're talking they don't want to wander away and get lost. I tell them all to stay very, very close to each other, and to each other. Then I look all of them."

"They won't get lost no more, how dark it becomes, they're so close to each other it is when these tiny mist of ours all come out for a while that people have what they call fog."

"They're brave," Peggy said, she held the Little Black Clock hand firmly.

Hurley Wonders If It's Worth While to Take a Chance on Marriage.

HURLEY, aged twenty-six, is about to invest in a marriage. But being a cautious guy, he's taking a little investigating first with various results, not all favorable.

How long should a marriage last? Hurley of a married friend, wondering whether he was going to get 8 per cent or 4 per cent on his venture.

"Well," said the lady, looking at him and smiling, "a good marriage should last a long time. At least through a permanent wave."

Whereat Hurley retreated in terror and dismay. And now he's asking that maybe he had better invest in a few good Government bonds instead of a wife.

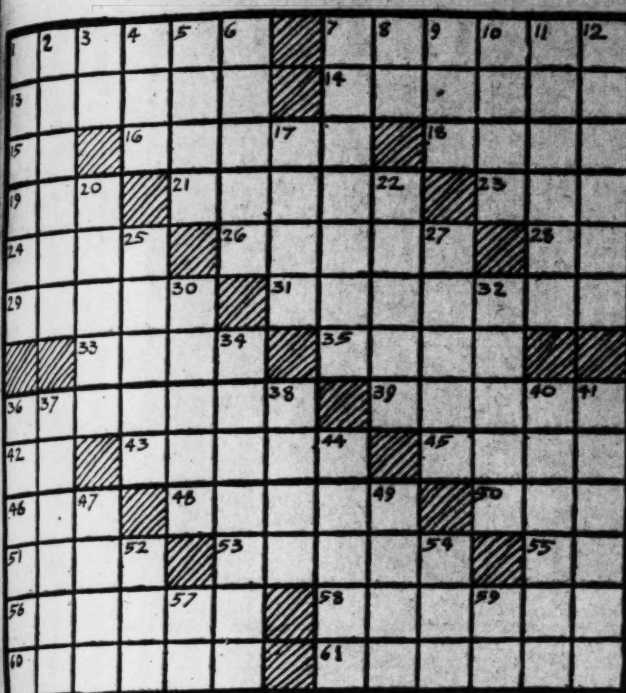

Mr. Martin—

I am a young man of 26. I am a good position, a nice sum in the bank, fine prospects, and I think the time has come when I should contemplate marriage.

Should I get married? I don't think that I should. I am a young man of 26. I am a good position, a nice sum in the bank, fine prospects, and I think the time has come when I should contemplate marriage.

Refrigerator Comforts

SOME home-makers always have cold water on tap in the re-ice cubes are available. There are some good looking, clear glass bottles, done in a cut design and pretty enough to send to the table.

These are the quart size, are capped with non-leakable metal and are sold in pairs at a very moderate price.

A new trick in a beverage jug is a glass cylinder inserted down the center and in which cracked ice is placed. In this way the beverage is thoroughly chilled without dilution.

The intensely low temperature and dry cold of automatic refrigerators is withering to some fruits and vegetables as many a housewife has learned. An enamel pan now is sold as the perfect container for such perishables, the cover lifted a bit so that in some uncanny way the moisture remains inside and the fruit and vegetables keep crisp and fresh.

the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 3.—Wearily a stock market dragged to a close today. Prices sagged almost steadily, with bear thrusts adding impetus to the decline here and there. Trading was close to yesterday's low levels, the lowest in 10 years. Total sales approximated 1,390,000 shares.
Sentiment in speculative quarters was highly confused, as trading was suspended for the three-day holiday. There was some faint lightening of long accounts throughout the day. Short covering by bears anxious to be out of the market over the week-end appeared to have been completed yesterday.

Loans to brokers and dealers led by New York Federal Reserve member banks for the week ending July 2 were announced after close of market by the Federal Reserve board as $3,219,000,000, representing a decrease of $197,000,000 as compared with the previous week.
Analysis of the report shows banks for own account decreased $4,000,000, loans for account of out-of-town banks fell $59,000,000 and loans for account of others decreased $181,000,000.

Weekly Trade Reviews.
The weekly mercantile and business reviews, appearing a day later than usual, gave little clew as to what may be expected after the seasonal July slump is passed.
The reviews, however, said "the fundamental aspects are sounder as the third quarter of 1930 begins." Radstreet's pointed to the greater stability in the security and grain markets as an encouraging feature of the week.

The market has had a thorough house cleaning, as the overnight announcement of a $1,000,000,000 reduction in member loans during the week, but constructive investments have not found business conditions encouraging enough to arrant the active bidding up of prices, and bears have held to their short positions. The market has reached an impasse of uncertainty, with immediate possibilities apparently exhausted.
The day's news, such as it was,
was a decrease of 19 per cent in salaries by Chrysler Corp., explained as "consistent with a retrenchment policy which the current depression in business demands." was regarded in Wall Street as refreshing in its frankness. Spiegel Mat Stern and Eural Vacuum were added to those companies having omitted dividends.

Call money renewed at 2 1/2 per cent, but sank to 2 as funds were freely offered for employment over the week-end.

Slight Rebound Late.
There was a slight rebound in the final few minutes of trading as new shorts decided to cover. Index after dropping to 98 1/2, renew 1930 low, closed at 100 1/2.
Such issues as U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Bethlehem, General Electric, Standard of N. J., Edison and North American closed only 1 to 1 1/2 points lower.
Some of the more erratic issues, however, broke sharply. All-Chemical and Diamond Match retained 1 point, and Case and Air Belt lost 1/2. Eastman lost 7.
Shares losing 3 to 4 including American Water Works, Standard Gas, Public Service of N. J., Waterhouse, New Haven and Gillet.
The last named reaching the low of 10 1/2. Since listing on this market Eureka Vacuum and Siegel, 30 shares declined 2 1/2 and 3 on omission of dividends. Chrysler held firm steady.

Stock prices, with other news and market news, will be found on pages 9A, 10A and 11A.
